Cruiser Sinking Eyewitness:

Searchlight, Salvo Hit at Same Time

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Flares dropped from an enemy plane revealed the presence of American vessels off Tulagi harbor, in the Solomon Islands, and led directly to a pre-dawn battle last August 9 in which three cruisers fired their last shots for the U. S. Navy, it was disclosed here tonight.

Survivors of the fierce engagement, fought at close range in the shark-infested south Pacific waters, gave their accounts in stories released by the Navy.

Lynn F. Hager, a tall, sharp-eyed Texan, who was on sky control watch aboard the cruiser Astoria, saw the battle from the start.

Hager, a seaman (first class) from Marquez, Tex., said the Astoria, the Vincennes and the Quincy were steaming along on a circular patrol of the Tulagi harbor mouth.

Sound of Plane.

Hager heard overhead the distant sound of an airplane. He sent a hurried message to the bridge and the captain was advised.

As Hager watched, flares from the plane plunged from the cloud ceiling a few hundred feet above the Astoria, lighting up the water.

Then out of the darkness at the southern end of the bay a blinding searchlight suddenly shot its beam on the ship. It snapped off just as a thunderous mass of steel and fire closed in on the Astoria.

This was the start of the battle in which the American cruisers were sunk with the loss of a minority of their crews.

The Astoria shuddered under the impact of shell after shell hurled from the enemy ships. The "ammunition ready boxes" exploded and withered the bridge and deck.

"We'd been fighting constantly since the beginning of the Tulagi battle, 36 hours before," explained Hager.

Jap Naval Force.

"We expected a Jap naval force the next morning and we needed rest."

"When I heard the plane, I relayed the alarm to the bridge. Soon after that, the planes came back. The flares broke through. The clouds were thick and we couldn't see the flares until they got down close to us."

"The first salvo hit us while some of the men were still running to their stations. Right at the beginning, they knocked out one of our turrets."

"As soon as their searchlights picked us up, we turned and started firing to port. It seemed to me that ships were coming at us from both sides. Just then, over from the island on the west of us, a searchlight caught us in its beam."

Loses Binoculars.

"Our commander cut loose at the light and after a few minutes the light went up in a kind of a big puff. Lieutenant Commander E. K. Wakefield was directing the firing. He had lost his binoculars and after looking around a minute he asked to borrow mine. He took a look through the glasses I handed him and said, 'Well, that's one Jap who'll never throw another shell at us.'"

"But we kept getting hit."

The seaman said that bullets and steel were flying everywhere, littering everything.

"Men up on the sky control kept dropping," he related. "They were scattered around the decks. One of the officers went down to take some of the men from sick bay, but after a bit he came back pretty quietly with a bewildered look on his face because there wasn't any sick bay left. It had got a direct hit."

"Lieutenant Commander Truesdale (not further identified) finally decided to throw the 1.1 ammunition overboard before it started exploding. We were getting pretty badly shot up by them. While he was throwing the ammunition

Russians, Nazis Resume Battle In Stalingrad

MOSCOW, Tuesday, Oct. 13.—

(AP)—Fighting broke out anew inside the city of Stalingrad yesterday after a lull of several days, the Russians announced in their midnight communique today. Nazi troops gained slightly in one block of the ruined city.

A regiment of enemy troops supported by 50 tanks three times attacked our positions," the communique said of the Stalingrad fight. "All the attacks were beaten off. Only in one block our detachments were somewhat pressed back by the enemy."

"As a result of this fighting 20 tanks were disabled or set on fire, and about two battalions of German infantry wiped out."

The momentary lull in the costly Nazi effort to reduce the Volga city had led to the belief that the Germans intended to try to break through to the Caspian sea in the Mzdo karea of the mid-Caucasus, far to the south of Stalingrad.

If that is the German intention, the enemy was not making any further progress there, the Russians said. The midnight communique said a counterattacking Red army "on a number of sectors made some advance" in the Mzdo karea which protects the

Get Your Stars Monday Night

Monday night shopping for war workers also has brought on a Monday-night boom in sterling silver service stars.

War workers and others unable to visit the downtown area during the daylight hours are taking advantage of the Constitution's 24-hour service on the sparkling little symbols of pride in loved ones in the armed forces—and are visiting the Want Ad desk of the newspaper in large numbers.

Show that boy you are proud of his service. Wear one of these dignified sterling silver stars—available at the Want Ad desk on the first floor of The Constitution building for 20 cents (plus two cents federal jewelry tax); by mail for 25 cents (jewelry tax included).

SUNK IN BATTLE—The U. S. heavy cruiser Quincy, above, was one of three similar vessels lost by the Navy in early stages of the occupation of the Solomons, the government announced last night. Although a majority of the personnel was saved, there were many casualties, the Navy said. Each carried nine 8-inch guns.

Three U.S. Cruisers Sunk In Solomons, Navy Says

Large Casualty Toll Indicated In Naval Battle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The Navy announced today that three of its heavy cruisers—Quincy, Vincennes and Astoria—were sunk in a naval battle August 9 during the early phase of American occupation of the Solomon Islands.

A majority of the personnel was saved, said a communique, but there were still many casualties. Captain Samuel M. Moore, of Alexandria, Va., commanding the Quincy, was among those killed.

This brought the Navy's announced losses in the Solomons to nine ships sunk—three cruisers, two destroyers and four transports.

2 Destroyers Damaged.

In addition, the Navy has announced that two destroyers have been damaged.

The three United States cruisers were lost in the same action as the Australian cruiser Canberra, whose sinking already had been announced by the Australian government.

The cruisers were part of a screening force covering the landing of additional troops and supplies in the Guadalcanal-Tulagi area the night of August 8-9, after the original surprise attack on the Japanese positions there was carried out on August 7.

About 1:45 a. m., August 9, the communique said, enemy aircraft dropped flares over the transports and supply ships, and simultaneously, a force of enemy cruisers and destroyers skirted the south coast of Savo island at high speed, headed for the transports.

Sighting the United Nations' protective force southeast of Savo, the enemy opened fire immediately with guns and torpedoes, damaging and setting fire to the

U. S. Drops 'Enemy' Label on Italians

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(AP)—United States Attorney General Francis Biddle announced tonight that effective October 19 Italian aliens would no longer be classed as alien enemies, because, he said, "from that time on the exonerated which they have so well earned will be granted them."

"This does not mean that dangerous or disloyal persons are no longer subject to apprehension or internment," the attorney general said in a Columbus Day address at Carnegie Hall. "We still will take no chances. It does mean that the regulations applying, up to now, to alien enemies, no longer apply to Italian aliens. . . . They will be free to participate in the war effort without the handicaps that have hampered them up to now."

Biddle said that his office had investigated thoroughly all Italians in the nation in an "unprecedented exercise of wartime vigilance."

"We find that out of a total of 600,000 persons, there has been cause to intern only 228, or fewer than one-twentieth of one per cent!" he said.

Biddle said that he had recommended also enactment of a bill in congress which would grant to an alien, otherwise eligible, citizenship without taking the literacy test—provided he is 50 years old or older and provided he came to the United States before July 1, 1924, and has lived in the country continuously since.

"This measure, would, I think, remove the greatest single difficulty that has stood in the way of citizenship for a large number of older generations of Italians, who, in all other respects, have made this country their own," Biddle said.

"The measure, would, I think, remove the greatest single difficulty that has stood in the way of citizenship for a large number of older generations of Italians, who, in all other respects, have made this country their own," Biddle said.

The address was broadcast nationally over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

'Labor Stealing' By Employers Hit by President

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, asserting that Allied strength was "on the up-grade" and the enemy growing nervous, tonight urged the drafting of 18 and 19-year-olds so that an Army with the spirit and hardihood of youth may shorten the war with annihilating new offensives.

At the same time, the President called for the rationing of manpower. Workers must be kept from changing jobs at will, he said. Pirating of one employer's labor by another must be forbidden. The objective must be "the right numbers of people in the right places at the right time."

Farm Labor Problem.

And he held out a possibility that legislation of a drastic nature may be necessary to keep the farmer supplied with hands to harvest the nation's food supplies. The American people, he added, will not "shrink" from such action, should it become necessary.

The President was delivering his second radio report to the nation in five weeks. It was, generally speaking, an optimistic report of what he found on his recent tour of defense plants, Army posts and Naval stations. Already, he said, America is getting ahead of the enemy in the battles of transportation and production.

In addition there was another hint at second front plans. The officers of the general staff, he said, were in general agreement it was necessary to divert "enemy forces from Russia and China to other theaters of war by new offensives against Germany and Japan."

Jittery Axis Leaders.

"The objective of today is clear and realistic," he said. "It is to destroy completely the military power of Germany, Italy and Japan to such good purpose that their threat against us and all the other United Nations cannot be revived a generation hence."

He pictured a jittery lot of Axis leaders, nervously watching the strength of the United Nations grow and their own diminish.

"The strength of the United Nations is on the upgrade in this war," he said. "The Axis leaders, on the other hand, know by now that they have already reached their full strength, and that their steadily mounting losses in men and material cannot be fully replaced."

Willkie Lands In Alaska Via Siberian Route

EDMONTON, Alberta, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Wendell Willkie arrived here from Fairbanks, Alaska, tonight on his way home.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Wendell Willkie's visits to the Allies, as representative of President Roosevelt, developed into a round-the-world trip yesterday. He arrived by airplane from China via Siberia.

Willkie's arrival at 5 p. m. (10 p. m. eastern war time) astonished Alaskans. They had last heard of him in Chungking, Chinese provisional capital. He left there October 7 for an unannounced destination which turned out to be this sub-Arctic interior-Alaskan town.

He said he would be back in the United States within a few days; that he found the route from China superb, and that all members of his party and the plane crew were in the best of health.

Willkie left American soil in August. He showed up in Natal, Brazil, August 29. Thence he went to Cairo, Egypt, and visited Turkey, Russia and China.

They are proclaiming that a second front is impossible; but, at the same time, they are desperately rushing troops in all directions, and stringing barbed wire all the way from the coasts of Finland and Norway to the islands of the eastern Mediterranean.

Meanwhile, they are driven to increase the fury of their atrocities.

Can You Help Move 1,995-Pound Bell?

A huge fire bell which hasn't been used for more than 50 years will help sound the death knell for America's enemies if it can be removed from its moorings 85 feet above the ground.

The bell, which weighs 1,995 pounds, is atop the narrow seven-story firemen's training tower in West End. It has been there for 11 years—out of the way and unnoticed. Back in 1867, it started ringing out fire alarms from its place in the heart of Atlanta.

Although it's a relic with a lengthy and romantic history, the bell is considered a perfect set-up for the scrap heap, because it is doing no good atop the tower as a relic or otherwise.

In fact, sane persons would hardly consider the straight-up climb to see the bell a worthwhile undertaking.

It was placed atop the tower when the structure was built 11 years ago, the elevator which hauled up material being used to lift it into place. Now that the elevator is gone, getting it down in one piece is a problem.

Workers believe that the bell could be cut up and carted down the stairs or lowered with ropes without difficulty.

But officials of the News-Papers drive are eager to get the big bell down in one piece so it can wake up Atlanta to getting out the scrap. They plan to carry it through the streets on a truck as a fireman smacks its sides with a hammer, sounding a challenge to the enemy.

Because of the narrowness of the tower it would be almost impossible to set up a crane to lower the bell. One person suggested that a pile of soft sand be placed at the foot of the tower so the bell would be dropped on it. Have you any suggestions? The history of the bell, named

Government Rounding Up All Heavy-Duty Road Machinery

With the acquisition of 16 units of road construction equipment from the Madison county commissioners at Huntsville, Ala., Forrest Armstrong, regional manager of the WPB Construction Machinery Department, yesterday revealed that the government is rounding up all heavy-duty construction equipment in the United States for military use.

"Every county, municipal and state highway commission and government agencies like the TVA are going to have to give up power-driven road construction equipment for the duration," he said. "To maintain their roads in the immediate future, they will have to go back a decade to the days of hand shovels, light drags and grades."

The laying of new pavements, except by Army engineers as access roads to war plants, is out for the duration, he said. WPB expects to negotiate for $300,000,000 worth of steamshovels, bulldozers, crawler tractors, and other heavy-duty earth-hauling equipment from Arkansas, Georgia, the Carolinas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida, Armstrong said, estimating that the eight southern states would release 150,000 "pieces" of such equipment.

"Roads on the home front can be kept up by light-weight equipment, but we can't build airports over here or military highways overseas without the power units," he pointed out. The Alaskan highway and the new South American highway are projects now under construction which Armstrong mentioned as in need of "heavy earth-hauling facilities."

In addition to these jobs which are linking distant American points, he stated that the county and state highway equipment will go to Russia, Ireland, "the Pacific," and other far-flung points of the fighting front to speed construction of roads, airports and bases for United States bases and for the lend-lease countries.

He indicated that cargo space has been reserved to transport the big power units to the fighting fronts.

Approximately $100,000 was paid the Alabama county commissioners for the 16 units purchased from Madison county. These, Armstrong said, were bought by the Navy and the county and state highway equipment voluntarily released their earth-moving monsters at fair prices.

"The WPB is appealing to highway commissioners of all counties, cities and states to sell such equipment voluntarily," Armstrong said. "We hope to get the same splendid co-operation everywhere that Madison county gave the WPB, without being forced to use the requisitioning powers of the War Production Board to take

Roosevelt Reports to Nation on War Progress--Full Text

'Typewriter Strategists' Flayed, Congress Praised by President

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The text of President Roosevelt's address tonight follows:

As you know, I have recently come back from a trip of inspection of camps and training stations and war factories.

The main thing that I observed on this trip is not exactly news. It is the plain fact that the American people are united as never before in their determination to do a job and do it well.

This whole nation of 130,000,000 free men and women and children is becoming one great fighting force. Some of us are soldiers or sailors, some of us are civilians.

Some of us are fighting the war in airplanes five miles above the continent of Europe or the islands of the Pacific—and some of us are fighting it in mines deep down in the earth of Pennsylvania or Montana. A few of us are decorated with medals for heroic achievement, but all of us can have that deep and permanent inner satisfaction that comes from doing the best we know how—each of us playing an honorable part in the great struggle to save our democratic civilization.

Whatever our individual circumstances or opportunities—we are all in it, and our spirit is good, and we Americans and our Allies are going to win—and do not let anyone tell you anything different.

Allied Strength On the Upgrade

That is the main thing that I saw on my trip around the country—unbeatable spirit. If the leaders of Germany and Japan had seen what I saw, they would agree with my conclusions. Unfortunately, they were unable to make the trip with me. That is one reason why we are carrying our war effort overseas—to them.

With every passing week the war increases in scope and intensity. That is true in Europe, in Africa, in Asia, and on all the seas.

The strength of the United Nations is on the upgrade in this war. The Axis leaders, on the other hand, know by now that they have already reached their full strength, and that their steadily mounting losses in men and material cannot be fully replaced. Germany and Japan are already realizing what the inevitable result will be when the total strength of the United Nations hits them—at additional places on the earth's surface.

War of Nerves Now a Boomerang

One of the principal weapons of our enemies in the past has been their use of what is called "the war of nerves." They have spread falsehood and terror; they have started Fifth Columns everywhere; they have duped the innocent; they have fomented suspicion and hate between neighbors; they have sided and abetted those people in other nations—even our own—whose words and deeds are advertised from Berlin to Tokyo as proof of disunity.

The greatest defense against all such propaganda is the common sense of the common people—and that defense is prevailing.

The "war of nerves" against the United Nations is now turning into a boomerang. For the first time, the Nazi propaganda machine is on the defensive. They begin to apologize to their own people for the repulse of their vast forces at Stalingrad, and for the enormous casualties they are suffering. They are compelled to beg their overworked people to rally their weakened production. They even publicly admit, for the first time, that Germany can be fed only at the cost of stealing food from the rest of Europe.

They are proclaiming that a second front is impossible, but, at the same time, they are desperately rushing troops in all directions, and stringing barbed wire all the way from the coasts of Finland and Norway to the islands of the eastern Mediterranean.

Terror Ringleaders To Be Dealt With

Meanwhile, they are driven to increase the fury of their atrocities. The United Nations have decided to establish the identity of those Nazi leaders who are responsible for the innumerable acts of savagery. As each of these criminal deeds is committed, it is being carefully investigated; and the evidence is being relentlessly piled up for the future purposes of justice.

We have made it entirely clear that the United Nations seek no mass reprisals against the populations of Germany or Italy or Japan, but the ringleaders and their brutal henchmen must be named, apprehended, and tried in accordance with the judicial processes of criminal law.

President Gives Reasons for Trip

There are now millions of Americans in Army camps, in naval stations, in factories and in shipyards.

Who are these millions upon whom the life of our country depends? What are they thinking? What are their doubts and what are their hopes? And how is the work progressing?

The commander-in-chief cannot learn all of the answers to these questions in Washington. That is why I made the trip I did.

It is very easy to say, as some have said, that when the President travels through the country he should with the blare of trumpets, with crowds on the sidewalks, with batteries of reporters and photographers—talking and posing with all the politicians of the land.

But, having had some experience with this war and in the last war, I can tell you very simply that the kind of trip I took permitted me to concentrate on the work I had to do without expending time, meeting all the demands of publicity. And—I might add—it was a particular pleasure to make a tour of the country without having to give a single thought to politics.

Expects To Make Similar Trips

I expect to make other trips for similar purposes, and I shall make them in the same way.

In the last war, I had seen great factories; but until I saw some of the new present-day plants, I had not thoroughly visualized our American war effort. Of course, I saw only a small portion of all our plants, but that portion was a good cross section, and it was deeply impressive.

The United States has been at war for only 10 months, and is engaged in the enormous task of multiplying its armed forces many times. We are by no means at full sense of the common people—and that defense is prevailing.

The "war of nerves" against the United Nations is now turning into a boomerang. For the first time, the Nazi propaganda machine is on the defensive. They begin to apologize to their own people for the repulse of their vast forces at Stalingrad, and for the enormous casualties they are suffering. production level yet. But I could not help asking myself on the trip, where would we be today if the government of the United States had not begun to build many of its factories for this huge increase more than two years ago—more than a year before war was forced upon us at Pearl Harbor.

Shipping Picture Favorable, He Says

We have also had to face the problem of shipping. Ships in every part of the world continue to be sunk by enemy action. But the total tonnage of ships coming out of American, Canadian and British shipyards, day by day, has increased so fast that we are getting ahead of our enemies in the bitter battle of transportation.

In expanding our shipping, we have had to enlist many thousands of men for our merchant marine. These men are serving magnificently. They are risking their lives every hour so that guns and tanks and planes and ammunition and food may be carried to the heroic defenders of Stalingrad and to all the United Nations forces all over the world.

A few days ago I awarded the first maritime distinguished service medal to a young man—Edward F. Cheney, of Yeadon, Pa.—who had shown great gallantry in rescuing his comrades from the icy waters of the sea after their ship had been torpedoed. There will be many more such acts of bravery.

In one sense my recent trip was a hurried one, out through the middle west, to the northwest, down the length of the Pacific coast and back through the south west and the south. In another sense, however, it was a leisurely trip, because I had the opportunity to talk to the people who are actually doing the work—management and labor alike—on their own home grounds. It gave me a fine chance to do some thinking about the major problems of our war effort on the basis of first-hand facts.

Impressed by Working Women

As I told the three Press Association representatives who accompanied me, I was impressed by the large proportion of women employed—doing skilled manual work running machines. As time goes on, and many more of our men enter the armed forces, this proportion will increase. Within less than a year from now, there will probably be as many women as men working in our war production plants.

I had some enlightening experiences relating to the old saying of us men that curiosity—inquisitiveness—is stronger among women. I noticed that, frequently, when we drove unannounced down the middle of a great plant full of workers and machines, the first people to look up from their work were the men—and not the women. It was chiefly the men who were arguing as to whether that fellow in the straw hat was really the President or not.

Having seen the quality of the work and of the workers on our production lines—and coupling these first-hand observations with the reports of actual performance of our weapons on the fighting fronts—I can say to you that we are getting ahead of our enemies in the battle of production.

Praises Congress On Inflation

Of great importance to our future production was the effective and rapid manner in which the congress met the serious problem of the rising cost of living. It was a splendid example of the operation of democratic processes in wartime.

The machinery to carry out this act of the congress was put into effect within 12 hours after the bill was signed. The legislation will help the cost-of-living problems of every worker in every factory and on every farm in the land.

In order to keep stepping up our production, we have had to add millions of workers to the total labor force of the nation. And as new factories come into operation, we must find additional millions of workers.

This presents a formidable problem in the mobilization of manpower.

It is not that we do not have enough people in this country to do the job. The problem is to have the right numbers of the right people in the right places at the right time.

Must Now Ration Our Manpower

We are learning to ration materials; and we must now learn to ration manpower.

The major objectives of a sound manpower policy are:

First, to select and train men of the highest fighting efficiency needed for our armed forces in the achievement of victory over our enemies in combat.

Second, to man our war industries and farms with the workers needed to produce the arms and munitions and food required by ourselves and our fighting Allies to win this war.

In order to do this, we shall be compelled to stop workers from moving from one war job to another as a matter of personal preference; to stop employers from stealing labor from each other; to stop men, women, and even grown boys and girls, wherever possible and reasonable, to replace men of military age and fitness; to train new personnel for essential war work; and to stop the waste of labor in all nonessential activities.

Students Should Do Their Part

There are many other things that we can do, and do immediately, to help meet the manpower problem.

The school authorities in all the states should work out plans to enable our high school students to take some time from their school year, and to use their summer vacations, to help farmers raise and harvest their crops, or to work in the war industries. This does not mean closing schools and stopping education. It does mean giving older students a better opportunity to contribute to the war effort. Such work will do no harm to the student.

People should do their work as near their homes as possible. We cannot afford to transport a single worker into an area where there is already a worker available to do the job.

In some communities, employers dislike to employ women. In others they are reluctant to hire Negroes. In still others, older men are not wanted. We can no longer afford to indulge such prejudices or practices.

Check at U. S. Employment Office

Every citizen wants to know what essential war work he can do the best. He can get the answer by applying to the nearest United States Employment Service office. There are four thousand five hundred of these offices throughout the nation. They are the corner grocery stores of our manpower policy.

This network of employment offices is prepared to advise every citizen where his skills and labors are needed most, and to refer him to an employer who can utilize them to best advantage in the war effort.

Perhaps the most difficult phase of the manpower problem is the scarcity of farm labor. I have seen many evidences of the fact, however, that the people are trying to meet it as well as possible.

In one community that I visited a perishable crop was harvested by turning out the whole of the high school for three or four days.

In another community of fruit growers the usual Japanese labor was not available; but when the fruit ripened, the banker, the butcher, the lawyer, the garage man, the druggist, the local editor, and other able-bodied men and women in the town, left their occupations and went out, gathered the fruit, and sent it to market.

Farm Production Is War Production

Every farmer in the land must realize fully that his production is part of war production, and that he is regarded by the nation as essential to victory. The American people expect him to keep his production up, and even to increase it. We will use every effort to help him to get labor; but, at the same time, he and the people of his community must use ingenuity and co-operative effort to produce crops, and livestock and dairy products.

It may be that all of our volunteer effort—however well intentioned and well administered—will not suffice to solve the problem. In that case, we shall have to adopt new legislation. If this is necessary, I do not believe that the American people will shrink from it.

Debt of Gratitude To Draft Boards

In a sense, every American, because of the privilege of his citizenship, is a part of the selective service.

The nation owes a debt of gratitude to the selective service boards. The successful operation of the selective service system and the way it has been accepted by the great mass of our citizens give us confidence that if necessary, the same principal could be used to solve any manpower problem.

And I want also to say a word of praise and thanks for the more than 10,000,000 people, all over the country, who have volunteered for the work of civilian defense—and who are working hard at it. They are displaying unselfish devotion in the patient performance of their often tiresome and always anonymous tasks. In doing this important neighborly work they are helping to fortify our national unity and our real understanding of the fact that we are all involved in this war.

Young Soldiers Are Best Soldiers

Naturally, on my trip I was most interested in watching the training of our fighting forces.

All of our combat units that go overseas must consist of young, strong men who have had thorough training. A division that has an average age of 23 or 24 is a better fighting unit than one which has an average age of 33 or 34. The more of such troops we have in the field, the sooner the war will be won, and the smaller will be the cost in casualties.

Therefore, I believe that it will be necessary to lower the present minimum age limit for selective service from 20 years down to 18.

We have learned how inevitable that is—and how important to the speeding up of victory.

I can very thoroughly understand the feeling of all parents whose sons have entered our armed forces. I have an appreciation of that feeling—and so has my wife.

Our Men Getting Best of Training

I want every father and every mother who has a son in the service to know—again, from what I have seen with my own eyes—that the men in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps are receiving today the best possible training, equipment and medical care. And we

Colorado Town of 207 Sets Scrap Pace—Ton Per Person

PETZ, Colo., Oct. 12.—(AP)—"There were no generals in this scrap army — everybody was a private and worked like one."

With that hustling spirit, said former Mayor C. P. Thompson, this northeastern Colorado farm community attained recognition as the first American town to achieve a ton-per-capita scrap collection average.

But the 225 tons gathered by the 207 residents "isn't enough yet, and we'll make it 240 tons before we're finished," said Thompson, campaign chairman.

Petz fixed its own goal. Farms with unused heavy machinery proved to be the richest source. Joseph Hecker, 91, was the town's oldest scrap hunter. At the other age extreme were the Quilley sisters — Lavern, seven; Jane, nine, and Barbara, 10. They collaborated with Dickie Ketchum, seven, whose little red wagon came in handy to haul the scrap the youngsters rounded up.

The Petz school was closed Thursday and Friday, and scrap collecting was the town's most pressing occupation.

Mrs. Daisy Hare, a widow, was the drive's top individual contributor with two truck loads.

Petz, located near the Nebraska boundary, followed the Cornhusker state's example in picking up many old pieces of farm machinery, including worn out combines and tractors.

will never fail to provide for the spiritual needs of our officers and men under the chaplains of our armed services.

Good training will save many, many lives in battle. The highest rate of casualties is always suffered by units comprised of units of inadequately trained men.

We can be sure that the combat units of our Army and Navy are well manned, and well equipped, and well trained. Their effectiveness in action will depend upon the quality of their leadership, and upon the wisdom of the strategic plans on which all military operations are based.

'Typewriter Strategists'

I can say one thing about our plans: They are not being decided by the typewriter strategists who expound their views in the press or on the radio.

One of the greatest of American soldiers, Robert E. Lee, once remarked on the tragic fact that in the war of 1861-65 the best generals were apparently working on newspapers instead of in the Army. That seems to be true in all wars.

The trouble with the typewriter strategists is that, while they may be full of bright ideas, they are not in possession of much information about the facts or problems of military operations.

We, therefore, will continue to leave the plans for this war to the military leaders.

Joint Staffs Functioning Well

The military and naval plans of the United States are made by the joint staff of the Army and Navy which is constantly in session in Washington.

Ernest McCall, Jr., superintendent of the West Atlanta district of the North Georgia Methodist conference, was guest preacher at the meeting of the fourth quarterly conference of the Acworth charge, which was held at the Methodist church here Sunday evening.

The churches of Acworth, Kennesaw and County Line are in this charge and the superintendents of the church schools installed were: Acworth, Ernest McCall, Jr.; Kennesaw, Robert Bozeman, and County Line, W. F. Ruff.

The Rev. J. M. Guest, minister in charge, directed the conference.

They are fighting to save for all mankind, including ourselves, the principles which have flourished in this New World of freedom.

Permanent Victory Is Our Goal

We are mindful of the countless millions of people whose future liberty and whose very lives depend upon permanent victory for the United Nations.

There are a few people in this country who, when the collapse of the Axis begins, will tell our people that we are safe on our own soil. They can tell the rest of the world to "stew in its own juice"; that never again will we help to pull "the other fellow's chestnuts from the fire"; that the future of civilization can jolly well take care of itself insofar as we are concerned.

But it is useless to win battles if the cause for which we fought these battles is lost. It is useless to win a war unless it stays won.

We, therefore, fight for the restoration and perpetuation of faith and hope throughout the world. The objective of today is clear and realistic. It is to destroy completely the military power of Germany, Italy and Japan to such good purpose that their threat against us and all the other United Nations cannot be revived a generation hence.

We are united in seeking the kind of victory that will guarantee that our grandchildren can grow and, under God, may live their lives, free from the constant threat of invasion, destruction, slavery and violent death.

WHY GOD PERMITS WAR

Why does God permit war? Why does He permit cruelty, injustice, pain, starvation, sickness and death?

Thirty years ago, in Forbidden Tibet, behind the highest mountains in the world, a young Englishman named Edwin J. Dingle, found the answers to these questions. A great mystic opened his eyes. A great change came over him. He realized the strange Power that Knowledge gives.

That Power, he says, can transform the life of anyone. Questions, whatever they are, can be answered. The problems of health, death, poverty and wrong, can be solved.

In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as world-wide professional recognition. Thirty years ago, he was sick as a man could be and live. Once his coffin was bought. Years of almost continuous tropical fevers, broken bones, near blindness, privation and danger had made a human wreck of him, physically and mentally.

He was about to be sent back to England to die, when a strange message came. "They are waiting for you in Tibet." He wants to tell the whole world what he learned there, under the guidance of the greatest mystic he ever encountered during this twenty-one years in the Far East. He wants everyone to experience the greatest health and the Power, which there came to him.

Within 10 years, he was able to retire to this country with a fortune. He had been honored by fellowships in the World's leading geographical societies, for his work as a geographer. And today, 30 years later, he is still so athletic, capable of so much work, so young in appearance, it is hard to believe he has lived so long.

As a first step in their progress toward the Power that Knowledge gives, Mr. Dingle wants to send to readers of this notice a 9,000-word treatise. It is free. For your free copy, send your name and address to the Institute of Mental Physics, 213 South Hobart Road, Dept. B-172, Los Angeles, Calif. Write promptly.—(adv.)

Court Refuses To Enjoin Petrillo Ban on Records

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The government's petition for an injunction to restrain James C. Petrillo from enforcing an order prohibiting members of his musicians' union from making records for public purposes was dismissed today in federal court.

AFL Demands That Biddle Probe Arnold

Exploitation of Office for Personal Gain Charged.

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—(P)—The American Federation of Labor convention directed sharp attacks today at the anti-trust division of the United States Department of Justice and urged an investigation of Thurman Arnold, anti-trust chief, to determine whether he has "exploited the prestige" of his office for personal material gain.

The action took the form of unanimous approval of reports brought to the convention floor by the resolutions committee.

In New York city, Attorney General Francis Biddle, arriving by plane to make a Columbus Day address, was informed of the AFL convention's action and said:

"I don't see why they want to investigate Mr. Arnold, who is simply doing his duty. However, I'd be glad to hold an investigation—it would show what an efficient public official Mr. Arnold is. His his them on both sides of the table."

The committee, headed by Matthew Woll, drafted the reports in essay form as comments on the annual report of the AFL executive council. The council report said Arnold's division began three years ago a "comprehensive and detailed program to regiment and even destroy organized labor."

The first suit of note was the Hutcheson case, in which the United States supreme court held in favor of President William C. Hutcheson, of the Carpenters' Union. Labor leaders said the effect was to uphold a secondary boycott of an employer by a union so long as the union was not in collusion with another employer.

Lecture Tours Attacked. The resolutions committee said, although it had been generally believed the Hutcheson decision had ended Arnold's program, "events soon proved that Mr. Arnold was far more interested in, and far more reliant upon, the impression he made upon the public press than upon the supreme court of the United States. And so we witnessed the astounding spectacle of a public servant, drawing his salary from the public funds under cover of being a public prosecutor, devoting as much, if not more, time towards appearances before widely publicized legislative committees that may not even have been considering matters connected with anti-trust, traveling about the country as a star attraction of commercial lecture bureaus, and writing a steady flow of articles that are being published in many commercial magazines, as he does in presenting legal arguments before legal tribunals."

McCormick Attacks 'Move to Enslave Press'

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—(P)—Colonel Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, in an address before the National Editorial Association advisory council today asserted "that a movement is under way to enslave the American press."

Referring to the government's monopoly suit against the Associated Press, McCormick declared: "The ostensible purpose of the complaint is that the Associated Press be compelled to take into membership and render service to any one who demands it. If this should be held to be the law, any brewer, any public utility, any undercover gambler, any one at all, for any reason at all, could come to your town, make a contract with a job printer, and use the service you have been building up for forty odd years, to run you out of business."

Linder Seeks Actual Farm Benefit Data

Millions Intended for Growers Not Being Received, He Says.

Commissioner of Agriculture Tom Linder said yesterday that the U. S. Department of Agriculture has refused to make public actual farm benefit payments to farmers in individual states and suggested that funds for the department be withheld "until these figures are furnished."

He made public telegrams he had sent to members of the state's congressional delegation in which he said he had noted President Roosevelt's "instruction that farm benefits be deducted from parity."

Linder added "the farmers are not receiving these benefits"; that "investigation will show hundreds of millions of dollars supposedly going in farm benefits actually being used for overhead and for promoting agriculture in South America."

Figures furnished by federal agricultural figures, he said, are the estimated benefit payments Linder said he planned to go to Washington Monday and pursue the matter further then.

over, part of it exploded and hit him over the left eye. He came back to me and asked, 'Am I badly hurt?' I said, 'You'd better let me fix it up, sir,' but he bandaged it up himself.

"After we had fought the ship as long as we could, we finally decided we'd better get down on the deck before we were trapped. After I got down, I started helping them move the wounded off the ship. One of the life rafts was torn away. It seemed to be floating in good condition, so I dove over to get it, and I didn't get back to the ship."

Hager said ships in the harbor machinegunned sharks to save some of the survivors.

"When a destroyer came up on us, she was firing," he said. "We thought she was Japanese, fixing to machine us. I told the men on my raft 'If they come up on us this way, with us all packed up, we'll be easy pickins.' Let's leave the raft and scatter over the water. Most of them wanted to stay on the raft, but two other fellows swam off with me."

"We soon found out it was our destroyer. They said the sharks were after a wounded officer and they machinegunned them to save him. I don't know whether it was a shark or not, but while I was out there in the water, I saw a big white streak heading for me, and I did some fast swimming to get back to the raft. I never saw the two men who swam off with me after that."

Francis M. Williamson, seaman first class, of Petersburg, Va., had been on the Quinby. He said: "While we were in the water, there was one guy close to me. He had almost his whole body shot away. Once he said, very quiet: 'I can't last more than 15 or 20

SLATED FOR SERVICE—Even seven-year-olds must sacrifice, so Faye Scott, wistful but proud, is donating her dog Bulger to the Army for guard duty.

Young Atlantan Does Her Bit To Give Canine Pal to Army

"Reckon he'll be a captain or a general?" asked little Faye Scott, of Atlanta.

"I really want Bulger to join the Army, though," she added, while Bulger cocked his ears and wagged his tail approvingly.

Faye is the seven-year-old ("almost eight, my birthday's next week") daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scott, who live on Marietta road, and Bulger is her year-old police dog puppy.

Bulger has been a watchdog and boon companion to all the neighborhood kids since Faye's uncle bought him for her last year, but Mrs. Scott explained that her husband might be called in the Army minutes more. I got a hundred dollars in my pocket here. If it'll do you fellows any good. But nobody took it."

Coxswain Sidney Broussard, of Long Beach, Cal., a barber aboard the Astoria, remained with the ship until a rescue vessel picked him up the following morning.

Lieutenant Commander Wakefield, who directed the Astoria's gun crews, is a 36-year-old Pennsylvanian, a 1930 graduate of the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Navy records here did not show his home town.

Lieutenant Commander William H. Truesdale of the Astoria, who was wounded in the action, is a 39-year-old Illinoisan, a 1925 Annapolis graduate.

Three U. S. Heavy Cruisers Sunk Off Solomons

Canberra, which sank later in the morning.

After a brief engagement with this force, the Japanese altered course to go through the passage northeast of Savo. Here it encountered another screen of cruisers and destroyers, and a battle at close range began.

"The action was fought with guns and torpedoes," the Navy said, "with targets illuminated by searchlights and star shells. The enemy fire was heavy and accurate, and the U. S. heavy cruisers Vincennes and Quincy were hit repeatedly and sank during the night. A third cruiser, the U. S. S. Astoria, was badly damaged and burned throughout the night. She sank the following morning."

Japs Withdrew. The Navy said it was not possible to determine the damage inflicted on the Japanese ships, which withdrew to the northwest without attempting an attack on our transports and supply ships.

The Quincy, of 9,375 tons, was placed in commission June 9, 1936. She had a normal complement of 45 officers and 907 enlisted men. The Vincennes, commissioned in February, 1937, was of 9,400 tons, and carried the same normal crew as the Quincy.

The Astoria was launched in December, 1933. She was 9,950 tons and her normal complement was 49 officers and 850 enlisted men.

The three cruisers each had a main armament of nine eight-inch guns.

Text of Communiqué. The text of Navy Communiqué No. 147:

All dates are east longitude. Number 1. Certain initial phases of the Solomon Island campaign, not announced previously for military reasons, can now be reported.

2. Reconnaissance during last June and July revealed enemy activity of marked significance in the Japanese-controlled Solomon Islands. An airfield was in process of construction on Guadalcanal Island and facilities of other nearby bases were being extended rapidly.

This expansion in the Solomons, together with increased activity in eastern New Guinea, clearly indicated that the enemy was attempting to establish and maintain control of the air and sea in the Solomon Islands area. Establishment of such control would have put the Japanese in a position to launch a sea-borne thrust at Port Darwin and Australia and would have seriously threatened our supply lines to Australia and New Zealand as well as to our island bases in the New Hebrides, New Caledonia and the Fiji Islands.

Necessary to Block. It was necessary, therefore, that these designs of the enemy be blocked by our capturing and utilizing his key positions in the southeastern Solomons. This was accomplished on August 7, when U. S. forces surprised and captured Japanese positions in the Guadalcanal-Tulagi area, as described in Navy Department communiques 107 and 115 and Admiral King's statement of August 10.

4. Vigorous opposition was offered to the consolidation of our positions. Throughout August 7 and August 8, enemy planes carried out raids on our shore positions, transports and fleet units. These raids did not prevent U. S. Marines from seizing most of the key positions in the Guadalcanal-Tulagi area by the afternoon of August 8. Meanwhile, additional troops, supplies and equipment were being unloaded from transports and supply ships, and it was imperative that these operations be successfully completed.

Screening Groups. To this end, screening groups of Allied cruisers and destroyers were placed on both sides of Savo Island to guard the western entrances to the transport area. An additional screening force was stationed near the transports to provide close coverage within the harbor.

5. At about 1:45 a. m. on the night of August 8-9, enemy aircraft dropped flares over our transports and supply ships. Simultaneously, a force of enemy cruisers and destroyers skirted the south coast of Savo at high speed headed in the direction of the transports and supply ships which were silhouetted in the illuminated area. The rapidly moving enemy sighted our covering unit located southeast of Savo and opened fire immediately with guns and torpedoes, seriously damaging and setting fire to the Australian cruiser HMS Canberra.

It later became necessary to abandon the Canberra and she

State Highway Board Agrees To Resurfacing

Salvaging of Car Rails, Priority Rights To Be Asked.

Resurfacing of Peachtree street from Spring street northward to the city limits was a step nearer yesterday when M. L. Shadburn, state highway engineer, notified City Construction Chief Clarke Donaldson that the board has agreed to the project.

There, however, are two stipulations which the city must meet, salvage of the 275 tons of abandoned street car rails on the stretch and procurement of needed materials to use paving materials on the job.

Councilman John A. White said he will ask the public works committee of council to authorize Donaldson to remove the rails at Thursday afternoon's session and that immediate appeals for priority will be filed with proper authorities.

Under the agreement, the city would repave the areas from which the rails are to be removed. Mayor Hartsfield, White, Donaldson and other city leaders have agreed the repaving of the six-tenths mile stretch for the last several months. It was believed yesterday that the salvage operations would assist in obtaining the necessary priorities for paving materials.

Allies Skirmish With Japs Near Mountain Pass

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Tuesday, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Allied forces are skirmishing with Japanese troops in the vicinity of the gap leading through the Owen Stanley mountains of New Guinea, the Southwestern Pacific Command reported today.

General MacArthur's Australian mountain fighters made some gains north from Myola yesterday, a communiqué said, and now are approaching Templeton's crossing, about twelve miles south of the enemy's advance base at Kokoda. Bomber and fighter planes helped in the renewed Allied advance, bombing and strafing the slim Japanese supply line to Kokoda from Buna on the north shore of the island.

Fuel Oil Forms Being Distributed

Application forms for fuel oil for private dwellings now are being distributed to War Price and Rationing Boards and should be available by October 20, Harry Sommers, regional OPA rationing executive, announced yesterday. Ration coupons should be distributed in the southern region soon after October 22, he also revealed.

"Fuel oil dealers and suppliers will make the application forms available to their customers," said Sommers. "If a household is not so supplied, he can obtain a blank from the local board. When filled out, the form should be mailed to the local board, where it is to be processed as rapidly as possible."

Stalingrad

For 48 days the Nazis have been trying, with their utmost strength, to capture the city of Stalingrad and thus drive to the Volga and cut that artery of supply for the Russians. Denied the victory by the almost supernatural bravery of the Russian defense, the Germans, at this writing, appear to have acknowledged failure. Infantry and tank assaults against the rubble heaps of the city, which have become bastions for the Soviet troops, have ceased and the only assault now being launched there is by artillery and air forces.

The Nazi drive has shifted its objective, now concentrating against the Caucasian oil region at Grozny. Whether they will be more successful there only the future can tell.

In the meantime, the Soviet counterattack, directed by Marshal Timoshenko and aimed at the front northwest of Stalingrad, continues to gain. It is quite possible that the Soviet forces here will be able to penetrate so deeply into the German front as to relieve the beleaguered city and capture any German troops and equipment which may be caught there when it is too late to retreat.

When the story of this war is finally told the Soviet arms will reap great glory from the siege of Stalingrad. It will stand with Sebastopol and Leningrad as the great rocks of resistance that broke the power of the German assault. True, Sebastopol fell, but only after the Germans had paid a frightful price in casualties. And Leningrad, like Stalingrad, still stands.

It is one more indication that the German offensive has passed its peak. The irresistibility of German attack has been broken. Even from the air, the Nazis are unable to gain an objective when the defenders are brave and stubborn enough to say "They shall not pass."

The handwriting is clear upon the wall. Henceforth the story of the war will be the story of the accelerating collapse of German arms. There are days of fearful struggle ahead for the Allied Nations. There are fearful losses yet to be sustained by our side. But the beginning of the end, at least, is in sight for Germany.

Then, when Nazism falls, we can turn our full might against the fellow-gangster of the Pacific and wipe Japan off the map as an offensive power.

The Oregon Again Goes To War

The famous old battleship, the U. S. S. Oregon, is to be broken up for scrap. Despite protests of sentimentalists, even though the Navy itself makes the decision with regret, the need for scrap metal is so great the value of the iron and steel and copper and brass and lead and zinc to be salvaged from the 10,288-ton ship outweighs all the historic significance of the grand old boat.

The Oregon won fame in 1898 when it raced, despite storms, all the way around South America from the west coast in order to join Sampson's fleet in the battle of Santiago.

In 1925 the Oregon was loaned to the state whose name it bears and has since been kept as an exhibit at Portland. Oregonians protested vigorously when the proposal to scrap the ship was first made by the War Production Board. At that time the Navy refused. But today the urgency of the need for scrap has forced reconsideration of that refusal and, with the agreement of President Roosevelt, the grand old ship is to be broken up.

That decision should serve as example to all Americans who have, in too many instances, permitted sentiment to outweigh the need of today and have refused to release other mementoes of the past.

Can anyone doubt that the men who formed the crew of the Oregon in the heyday of her glory would want any other fate for their old ship today, than that she contribute all she had for this new and greater struggle, in which their descendants are now engaged?

The U. S. S. Oregon, by the decision to scrap her, is going to war once more!

Sensible Decision

The decision of the Atlanta Board of Education to excuse boys enrolled in the high schools when they are in the fields picking cotton is a sensible one. This is war and the cotton must be picked, for that commodity is essential to the war effort. Manifold are the uses to which cotton is put by both branches of the armed forces, the Army and the Navy. All of us should feel thankful we have the young men to go into the fields and pick the cotton.

In contrast, consider the young men of high school age of Naziland. What of them? Thousands and thousands of these youths are battle-scarred veterans. Many of them have fallen in battle. Others have emerged not as heroes, but as casualties. What of the youths of high school age in the so-called conquered countries? There are no high schools worthy of the name today in Holland, Belgium, France, Norway and other countries now under the "protection" of the Nazis. The young men of these countries either have been lined up before firing squads and shot down in cold blood or they have been shipped off as slave labor to Nazi war plants.

We in this country should be extremely grateful our youths of high school age have not met the fate of firing squad or slavery. These lads are not being ruthlessly ordered into the cotton fields. The cotton picking by them is entirely voluntary. Between compulsion and co-operation lies an ocean.

To give credit to the totalitarian states for "getting things done" is to lose sight of this great, this essential difference. It takes no genius to get results at the point of a gun. Any gangster can do that, any nitwit with a weapon in his hand can do that. But democracy does not work in such a way. That is why all of us should take heart in the things we are accomplishing voluntarily. That is why the lads who go into the cotton fields do there with joy in their hearts, not fear.

Foolish "Prophet"

Wilbur Glenn Voliva is dead, at the age of 72. Voliva was a self-styled prophet. He was leader, too, of one of those weird religious cults that are supported by the gullible and the folks who make up the "lunatic fringe" of normal society.

Voliva had a great hankering for publicity. And, soon after the turn of the century, he managed to get his name on the front pages of the newspapers by making fantastic prophecies and statements entirely contrary to all human knowledge.

He insisted the world was flat, like a great pancake, and that it was possible for living creatures, including man, to fall off the edge. He issued a lengthy series of prophecies setting the date of the end of the world. When each date would be passed, with the world still doing business at the old stand, he was in no wise embarrassed—he simply issued the prophecy all over again and moved the date ahead.

His latest end-of-the-world prediction sets the date in 1943. However, he likewise said he himself would live until 1976, though not explaining his own survival after the passing of the world.

That he should die at 72, short by 34 years of the 106 he said he would attain, is no more convincing proof of the falsity of his claims as a prophet than many another fiasco during his lifetime.

But the strangest fact about Voliva and his foolishness is that sufficient persons believed in him to create a sizeable population for his "colony" at Zion, not far from Chicago, and to thereby provide him with a substantial livelihood.

He ran a sort of religious confidence game and always found plenty of suckers to answer the come-on.

BAD NEWS
(From The Tifton Gazette)
Bad news for Georgians scattered about over the nation is the announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard that there may not be any watermelon crop next year, due to the necessity of saving fertilizer, transportation and labor. Georgia's representative in congress may put up a battle on that score, but, even if commercial production is abandoned, the individual probably can raise a few for local sale or home consumption. No watermelons during the summer could be a terrific blow to civilian morale, besides adding to the list of those who agree with Sherman's description of war.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

GEORGE'S BIG JOB WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—To Senator Walter F. George goes the distinction of sponsoring and piloting through the senate the greatest tax bill ever enacted in the history of the country.

Estimated to raise between $6,851,700,000 and $7,900,000,000 in increased federal revenue, the bill has been considered by the senate in record time. Ordinarily it would have required months to pass it. Under the stress of war conditions, which gave rise to the legislation, it was actually disposed of in a week.

Credit for the expeditious manner in which the measure was put through is given to the Georgia senator, who as chairman of the important finance committee, was in charge of the proceedings throughout. It represents one of the most arduous tasks performed by any individual senator in the entire vast war program handled by congress. Taking up where the house left off, Senator George first developed 2,362 pages of printed testimony in hearings by his committee before the bill was reported to the chamber for action.

The magnitude of the problem is shown in the size of the bill itself, which embraces 575 pages. It was no easy task to assemble and assimilate all of the technical data going into a measure of that comprehensive form. Only an expert of the first order is capable of mastering a subject of such intricacy.

Senator George has been rated the chamber's foremost expert on revenue and government fiscal problems for years. That is one of the principal reasons why he was personally asked by President Roosevelt to give up the chairmanship of the Foreign Relations committee and direct the affairs of the finance body after the death last year of Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, former finance chairman.

LEADING AUTHORITY He has been a member of the committee to the senate nearly 20 years. During that time he has mastered the subject of taxes to a pre-eminent degree, so that today no one can challenge his position as the senate's leading authority. It was a revelation to watch him in action during the debate on the bill. Remaining in his senate place constantly throughout the discussion, he was ever able to explain minutely the most complicated provision of the measure. Rarely was it necessary for him to resort to notes. He knew the thousand and one individual provisions backwards and forwards.

Associates of the Georgia senator, Republicans and Democrats alike, have commended him highly for the successful manner in which he piloted the controversial measure through. No better performance has been made on any similar measure affecting the war program. In no important instance were the recommendations of his committee turned down.

ONE-THIRD OF INCOME Counting the additional taxes levied under the new measure, the total federal tax bill of the American people, including the existing law, will exceed $26,000,000,000 in 1943. Senator George pointed out that if the $10,200,000,000 in state and local taxes is added to this, the nation's total tax bill will aggregate $36,537,000,000.

Current estimates are that the national income at the end of the present year will be approximately $110,000,000,000. Thus the total tax bill of the American people amounts to approximately one-third of our national income.

ONLY THE BEGINNING This promises to be only the beginning, however. Treasury officials have already put congress on notice that a new $6,000,000,000 tax bill is on the way and will probably be presented to the congressional revenue committees as soon as the present measure is out of the way. Heavy war expenditures—the greatest the nation has ever known—are responsible.

The highest tax collected during any one year of the last World War period was a little less than $5,500,000,000. But the national income at that time had a peak of only about $56,000,000,000. We have gone a long way since then.

Despite the enormous expenditures we are having to make to carry on the war, no one seems particularly disturbed about the ability of the nation to finance the costs. A few years ago leaders in the old orthodox school of financing screamed national bankruptcy every time a few extra billions were voted for WPA or other government activities, which now look puny in comparison.

BRITISH CONSOLS PLAN If the worst comes to the worst and we end up the war with a national debt of two or three hundred billion dollars—more than we have spent in the entire history of the nation up to the beginning of the war—we could find an acceptable way out by resorting to the British consols system of government financing. These consols run in perpetuity and carry a low rate of interest—2½ per cent. On that basis we could carry several hundred billion dollars of national debt without any great strain on the national economic structure.

Senator George has achieved a notable record in piloting the huge tax bill through the senate in record time. But his work is by no means ended yet. "Perhaps his most difficult task will be in sitting as head of the senate conferees in working out differences with the house on the form the two bills took in the two chambers. When he completes that he will be entitled to a well-earned rest.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

Germans Are Different.

Enjoying a short conversation the other evening, with Malcolm S. Henderson, the newly appointed British consul for this area, we had been watching the election go on.

"You recall that the popular issue in that election was Nazism vs. communism."

"Well, this girl, in describing things she had seen at the polling place, told of seeing a Communist supporter come by, riding a bicycle. As he passed, he shouted, 'Hurrah for Communism!'"

"And," said the girl, "about a dozen Nazis immediately jumped on him and beat him up, terribly. He may be fatally injured. I wouldn't be surprised."

"What was the reaction of those nice, cultured, civilized Germans? Why, they laughed! They thought it funny, a huge joke. It never occurred to them to voice sympathy with the poor victim of this mob attack. It never entered their heads that they had even half a decent folk would, at least, have confined their onslaught to one man at a time, instead of ganging up on their victim."

"No," they laughed, that was all. Laughed with evident enjoyment, uproariously.

"That is the type of incident that, every now and then, shocks the visitor to Germany and reveals, momentarily, a glimpse of the fundamental difference between the German national temperament and our own."

Another Characteristic.

I had told Henderson how, when we came home in September, 1939, on the S. S. Aquitania, there was a group of some 30 or 40 Germans among the passengers who sat, huddled together on the deck, and showed more evident signs of fear than any others on board. When we were passing through the submarine danger zone.

And how, after the danger was passed and we were in the safe waters nearing the United States, these same Germans reacted so hilariously and disagreeably they made themselves objectionable to every one else.

"Yes," nodded Henderson, "that, too, is typical of them."

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Eleanor's Law NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has passed a law. It is a law which was first proposed last winter by the United-Auto Workers of the CIO, the same organization which tied up airplane production in the North American plant in California while Britain stood alone against the Nazi and the alien party of Browder and Bridges was sabotaging the American war effort with the slogan, "The Yanks aren't coming."

It is the law which congress repeatedly refused to pass, limiting income earned by personal services to $25,000 a year, with certain reservations, and adopting the Communist principle of economic equality.

After the UAW proposed this law and Mrs. Roosevelt advocated the idea, the President took it up and presented it to congress. Congress turned it down. The President then threatened to supersede congress unless certain things were done and congress, in a hurry to avoid such a showdown, increased its already great executive power. Then, a week ago, among many other provisions contained in his executive order creating the Office of Economic Stabilization, President Roosevelt gave Mrs. Roosevelt her law.

In practical financial effect, Mrs. Roosevelt's law will make very little difference to the Treasury or to those affected because income tax rates achieve about the same figures. In fact it is not even represented to be a law to raise money, which is the purpose of taxation. Its purpose is plainly declared to be "to correct gross inequities and to provide for greater equality in contributing to the war effort." That is where the Communism comes in, for under the American system the government has no mission to equalize the efficient and talented individual with the rest, and, on equalization is recognized as a concern and a power of the central government there is no reason why the ceiling on individual incomes may not be set at some figure which would permit neither peaks nor dips.

Unfair To Debt-Free Aside from the principle of Mrs. Roosevelt's law, passed over the head of congress, it is unfair to those who earn their incomes by personal services and to individuals who have kept out of debt. It provides that taxes, insurance premiums and fixed obligations may be deducted from the means that a person having great properties may deduct his taxes on the same, that he who is investing in large insurance policies may deduct his premiums which become a cumulative store of personal wealth and that the person who has borrowed a lot of money may keep it and deduct from income taxable under Mrs. Roosevelt's new law the amounts which he pays to his creditors to reduce his debt. And, of course, anyone who has inherited a fortune yielding a large income need not be troubled by the innovation.

Aside from the inequality of a law whose stated purpose is to promote inequality, a fault which could be corrected by straight taxation, the principle and the intent remain to challenge the American concept. If the same financial effect has been arrived at through income tax schedules the objection would not arise. In fact this financial effect has been almost accomplished anyway for most of those who will be affected by Mrs. Roosevelt's law will not pay much more under the law than they would have paid any way on straight computation. The Communism is seen in the plain assertion that no person's services in private enterprise, even outside the war effort, can legally be worth more than a certain amount of money per year. It is impossible to say what this maximum amount will be except in some hypothetical case in which an elaborate set of circumstances is improvised for purposes of reckoning.

President's Income It is said that the President's own salary will be equalized by voluntary action which has nothing to do with the case except to affirm the offensive principle in the highest quarter. But the President is a rich man in his own right whose mother left a fortune of more than $1,000,000 last year and that million but the remainder of a greater fortune which has been handed down and Mrs. Roosevelt, herself, has received one of the greatest personal incomes in the entire country in the years since 1932, which has been all hers to do with as she pleased, to spend, give away or keep, subject to the usual taxes. None of this income, neither from the estate nor from accumulated riches, is affected.

But the stated purpose of Mrs. Roosevelt's law is the key to its real intent. First proposed by an organization heavily infested with Communists, diligently promoted by Mrs. Roosevelt and then by the President, rejected on principle by congress and now enacted by decree, the law's purpose is not to raise money with which to fight the war or to prevent inflation but "to provide greater equality in contributing to the war effort." That phrase, "in contributing to the war effort," is dressing. The real purpose is "to provide for greater equality" by establishing the principle that Americans may receive just so much and no more for their services with the unspoken proviso that the maximum may be scaled down to a subsistence rate.

The Liberty Loan committee of the sixth federal reserve district, Friday afternoon announced the receipt of $2,500,000 for the Liberty bonds from one bank alone.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

BIG RICH COUNTRY? The late Ring Lardner once wrote of a gentleman, surprised by a statement, who "lepped to his feet as if stung by a bee."

A great many Americans will do that within the next two months when they get the news.

We have been rather smug about ourselves. And our country.

We had come to look upon our nation as a great and inexhaustible reservoir of raw materials and man power.

Thousands of Fourth of July speeches have dulled our good sense.

Thousands of congressional speeches, in which congressmen made the eagle scream, have distorted our perspective.

Copper.

We had mountains of it.

Timber. (I can hear a congressman now.)

"The valleys and the plains, the mountains, are covered with an inexhaustible supply of timber."

Well—if you wish to leap to your feet as if stung by a bee, I will tell you some cold, hard facts which have just been released.

We are so terribly short of copper that there will likely be a substantial reduction in the production of necessary copper materials within the next two months.

As for timber—when they restricted steel, timber was called upon. Many buildings use, for one floor or one roof, more than a million feet of timber and we have literally thousands of buildings, of all sizes, going up in this country. Once upon a time steel was used. Now steel is needed for guns, planes, ships and tanks.

We are a big rich country and it is a good thing for the world we are. But Americans have learned, or soon will learn, that we have our limitations, and that it is possible to be overdrawn at Nature's bank.

AS TO MANPOWER We are doing, of course, a tremendous job. With all its faults, its inefficiencies, its overlappings, its bureaucratic red tape and delays, we are doing a job such as no nation has ever done before.

It isn't good enough. And it is going to slide off . . . for a while.

Our manpower problem is another thing.

We are aiming, theoretically, for 10,000,000 men under arms. (Russia has had 10,000,000 men under arms for a long time. We are helping feed and arm them, but Russia had done a job. Germany had 9,000,000 men under arms at the start of the war. Since that time Germany has increased that number to a possible 12,000,000. One must always remember that we are up against Japan and Germany, who had been planning and stocking and preparing for 10 and seven years. Remember that when you curse those in charge of your own country's effort.)

If we get 10,000,000 men under arms we may not be able to feed or transport them.

The soldiers of the age group from 40 to 45 aren't doing so well. They aren't, with some few exceptions, able to take the physical demands. It may be they will have to be sent into industry or on to farms for work there. Not that farm work isn't exacting, but it isn't still what the Army requires of a combat soldier.

That is beside the point, the point being that we haven't as many men as we need.

Out of 135,000,000 population is small compared with China's and Russia's.

Remember, it was just before last December 7 that some of our spell-binders, some in the hire of Germany and some just stupid—were saying we could live by ourselves; that we were so big and powerful none would dare offend us.

All this ought to teach us that we have got to live with the rest of the world. We are a part of it. It was silly to think we could do otherwise.

FOR INSTANCE Right now, down in Florida, there are the vegetable growers who are as frantic as our own cotton and peanut farmers.

Our cotton and peanut farmers see their cotton still unpicked and their peanuts without adequate harvest hands.

In Florida it is now time to plant the vegetables . . . the ones we will eat in the spring before the onset of our own war produce.

Heretofore Florida has used the 30,000 migrant workers—the "Grapes of Wrath" type—to harvest. That work-group moved across the length and breadth of the nation to work in the fruit, vegetable, lettuce and grain harvests.

They moved in old jalopies.

Today they can't get gas, and the second-hand tire market, which they kept going, is for the rich and well-to-do.

Many of them are in war plants.

What is Florida going to do for those vegetables when the 30,000 don't show up.

It is a problem.

Congress must meet it as soon as congress thinks the people are ready for another measure which restricts the liberty of the people—a law saying the government can tell them where to work and when.

It ought to be done now. It was done in Germany two years before the war came, because that's our way.

A democracy is inefficient.

But the reason we are fighting is to keep from paying the price which a dictator efficiency demands. It costs too much.

A Trapped Fox Isn't Caught If He Can Reach the Foot To Gnaw It Off

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

Two young toughs worked on a farm. One had been in a reform school. They were too young to be soldiers, but not too young for crime—and potential killers.

While the farmer was away on business, they came to the house, found a shotgun and a rifle, and tied the farmer's wife in a chair. Then they waited for another member of the family, a 14-year-old daughter. When she got home from school, they intended to kidnap her. They boasted about it.

When the phone rang, they told the farmer's wife to answer it and give no alarm. But it was her father calling, and when he asked if she was in trouble, she said yes.

Soon thereafter the father and the husband drove into the yard. But when they entered the house there was nothing they could do for they faced cocked guns.

After a while one of the youths went outdoors, taking his gun with him, but the two men in the house were still helpless. What could they do? The young tough who guarded them was desperate and jittery, and they knew he would shoot.

Weak men would have given up and waited for the help that would have come too late to prevent tragedy. Timid men submit quietly when they face a gun.

But these two were tough. The farmer was a big guy, not accustomed to taking a licking lying down. He watched closely and waited for a break.

When it came, he gambled with death. He seized a wooden potato masher and swung at the youth's head. The gun fired as the blow fell, but the older man was a tough guy, too, and he knocked the gun barrel upward so the charge hit the ceiling. Then the farmer struck again, and the youth went down and out. The other was found hiding.

The millions who read the story must have profited by it if they saw the moral—for moral there was. It was the ancient truth that no criminal, no man never beaten so long as they are conscious and able to move.

It is Commando stuff—Marine stuff. But also it is the pattern for every fighting man in uniform, and for every citizen who fights in a less deadly way here at home.

For those who won't quit, there is always a break—or a chance to make one. The losers usually throw away victory by giving up.

In a City Jungle;
Weird Experiences
Of Lost Wanderers

I was discussing with Eddie, our once-a-week yard man, the pathless jungles of some of our subdivisions, with especial reference to Ansley Park. Eddie says he can get around Atlanta pretty well after many years of city life—he came from the rural regions—but he was considerably lost for a long time.

"I got me a room out by the A. U.," he explained. (The A. U. is Atlanta University, away out south).

"I pretty soon learned how to ride on a street car, if I had a nickel, but it was hard for me to remember the corner I ought to get on at. All the corners look alike. So I got me a piece of chalk and I marked an X on a house right where the car stopped. If I could find that X I was all set."

"It wasn't so bad goin' home, because I knew where to get off at it was daylight, and it was dark the motorman would tell me. But I had trouble once. Because I rid backwards."

"What do you mean, backwards?" I asked.

"Well, in them days there was a seat that faced back towards the way you come from. And one night I got it."

"When I got out at my corner I just naturally got walking, headed back towards town. It took me two hours to find where I was at and when I did find my house I was afraid to go in. I wasn't sure of it."

The recent removal of a pair of honeymooners to an apartment on Westminster drive in Ansley Park had brought up the subject. I had driven with the two from Peachtree road to their new domicile, which was a simple route. When we emerged their car was headed east.

"Can we get to town this way?" asked the bridegroom, who invariably asks me how to get from Walton street to the Birmingham highway, which he has driven a hundred times.

"Certainly," said I. "It may be a little tricky, but I'll show you. People have become lost so long in Ansley Park that friends had to send out relief expeditions with food and water. As wanderers, lost in a forest, have gone round and round in ever narrowing circles, so have these unfortunates found themselves passing and re-passing, the same steam-roller left in the road and finally, their gasoline gone, have curled up to seek fitful slumber until dawn."

"Shucks," quoth he. "I could find my way through a trackless desert in a blizzard. Which way do we turn here?"

"It is immaterial," I responded. "Either way is wrong."

"I'll try the left," he said.

"In which case," I protested, "you'll come out on Piedmont avenue, which you don't want to do. Take the right and you'll hit Peachtree road, right by the fountain. I know this region like I know my own front yard."

So he followed my advice—and we came out on Piedmont avenue.

Flags vs. Hats

Hold Your Horses! Circus Due For Three-Day Stay in Atlanta

By DUDLEY GLASS.

"Hold your horses! Elephants are coming!"

That was the warning cry of the mounted cowboy who used to ride ahead of the circus parade. There are no more parades but we are told the horse is coming back, so why not parades? As for me, I'd like to see the beautiful diadems in filigree garments swaying on the back of an elephant or riding aloft on top of the lions' cage. Ah me, they are beautiful! Or were. Perhaps they still are. Why not? They are the same girls. All of which leads up to the big news—that the Greatest Show on Earth, the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Circus, is coming to Atlanta for three days, six performances, on October 19, 20 and 21, at the Highland avenue show grounds.

Biggest Circus.

They showed the circuses out on Old Wheat street up to the time Billy Sunday built a tabernacle and carried on for weeks on that site. Not even the biggest circus wanted to follow Sunday on his home grounds. That would have been anticlimax.

An advance man for the Greatest Show on Earth let me into an inside story not yet released, but I have no conscience in such matters. News is news to me and I'm going to print it.

"You know, of course, about Gargantua and his beautiful wife, Toto," he said. "And our 50 ballet dancing elephants, ponderous pachyderms; our great pageant, 'Holidays,' created by Norman Bel Geddes. And I am sure you know we carry 1,600 people, 1,000 menagerie animals and hundreds of horses and a glittering galaxy of gorgeous clowns."

"But this is the inside stuff. We have succeeded in importing from the island of Zambazoo, in the South Seas, the last surviving specimen of the wofus-wofus doesn't like to be slapped in the face by it.

His idea is that said flags might be placed a little higher, so the autumn winds would not make them flap around and knock off a pedestrian's hat or eyeglasses or both. He admits that would do a lot of us good to be bopped in the head by a flag or a gun or something to remind us there's a war on. But still, he thinks, the higher the flag waves the better.

And, speaking of flags, a number of Atlanta business firms, corporations and office building operators, are somewhat lacking in the traditional respect for the Stars and Stripes, as set forth in a manual on the subject to be obtained from the American Legion. Not because they are not patriotic, but because they don't know—or their employees don't know—when the flag should not be raised before sunrise. It should be lowered at sunset. It should not be exposed to severe rains. It should not hang, wilted and forlorn in an all day rain, absorbing soot and dirt from the atmosphere. And there's a law against using it for advertising purposes.

Inquiry about my opinion of the proposal to eliminate great number of bus, street car and trackless trolley stops in the interests of faster traffic and other factors. After pondering this subject, my attitude is this:

Eliminate all stops on my route from home to town and vice versa except those at my corner.

I trust this policy will meet with universal approval.

Kidron, Victory Mount Of Gen. Pershing, Dies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—General John J. Pershing's favorite horse, Kidron, which he rode in the 1919 Paris victory parade, is dead.

The mount, a thoroughbred gelding, died Saturday evening while in pasture at the Quartermaster Remount Depot at Fort Royal, Va., the War Department said today.

Kidron was bought from the French government in 1918 by the Army, and acquired by Pershing the following year for his personal use. The animal was used by the World War Expeditionary Force commander until he was retired to the Remount Depot in 1935. He was 31.

State Budgets Are Approved By Governor

$293,755 Provided for Vocational Education Division.

Expanded vocational activities of the State Department of Education, as well as a 25 per cent increase in teachers' salaries, were reflected yesterday in budgets approved by Governor Talmadge for the current quarter.

Expenditure of $293,755 in the three-month period ending December 31 is provided for in the budget of the vocational education division, compared to $249,327 in the same period last year, while the budget of the vocational rehabilitation division increased from $25,811 to $79,260.

State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr., said the larger sums, including federal matching funds, were accounted for by enlarged programs for training workers for war industries and for rehabilitating wounded soldiers of the present war.

$299,005 for Textbooks. Payments approved for teachers' salaries in the current quarter totaled $6,460,000, compared to $5,352,708 in the same quarter a year ago. The state's salary scale for teachers was raised 25 per cent last month.

Provision was made for spending $299,005 for school textbooks in this quarter. In the previous quarter the amount allocated for this purpose was $503,910, while the total in the same three months last year was $184,419.

Administrative costs of the Department of Education itself were set at $24,745 compared to $24,199 a year ago.

The budget approved for the Department of Public Safety provides for expenditure of $165,720, or about $20,000 less than in the previous quarter and about $53,000 less than the department spent in the same quarter last year.

Budget Trimmed. As submitted by the department, the budget called for expenditure of $179,583, but more than $11,000 was trimmed from the request for supplies and materials and $1,000 from the request for travel expenses.

The Public Service Commission budget carried salary increases of $5-$10 a month for five stenographers and the pay of motor carrier inspectors from $150 to $185 a month. Two clerks and a rate expert also got raises, but the commission's total salary bill was $9,723 compared to $10,508 in the same quarter last year.

Thrasher said the increases were voted by the commission to offset cuts made last year.

The law department's proposed budget of $9,061 was pared to $8,646 by trimming all but salaries and miscellaneous. Last year it was $8,922 and in the previous quarter $8,199.

House Group Approves War II Legion Measure

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Legislation to extend membership in the American Legion to veterans of the current war was approved today by a house judiciary subcommittee.

The measure would amend the American Legion charter, granted September 16, 1919, "so as to extend membership eligibility therein to certain American citizens, honorably discharged from the active military or naval forces of the United States, or of some country allied with the United States during World War II."

We have no right to complain about rationing, sacrifices or hardships until we approach the sacrifices and hardships of our armed forces. But we do not want to pay taxes to furnish wine for government workers."

Put this alongside the article quoted in this column yesterday about vice conditions in Washington, and you have something to worry about. One must ask, How can the administration and congress be content to permit such conditions to exist when the nation faces its gravest peril? How can senate bill 860 remain smothered in the committee, when Senator Richard B. Russell declares: "I am sure that an overwhelming majority of the people of Georgia favor the enactment of S-860, and I hope it may be possible to bring this bill before the senate at the earliest possible date." (Congressional Record, June 18, 1942)? Isn't it time Washington realized that we are at war? Well does the Commercial Appeal ask: "What are we sacrificing for?"

American Troops Are Massed in Britain At 'Stern Moment,' Churchill Declares

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill gave Britain today an assessment of two months' Allied war effort which included the transport to these islands of the most numerous United States troops yet to arrive, and declared the United Nations had reached a "stern and somber moment" in which they must balance wisdom with daring.

That was his closest reference to the "second front" problem in a speech delivered in Edinburgh's Usher Hall. He recalled his careful statement to the house of commons last week in which he said the war had entered a "significant" period.

Speaking from the same platform, U. S. Ambassador John G. Winant said "we must wait the soldier's answer" to what lies ahead.

"Whining" Hitler Taunted. The prime minister took special pains to taunt Adolf Hitler about the "dull, low, whining note of fear" apparent in the latest speeches of the German Fuehrer and his associates.

"It is apparent to me that this bad man saw quite clearly the shadow of slowly and remorselessly approaching doom, and that he talked at fortune for mocking him with the glitter of fleeting success."

Briefly assessing the gains of the last two months, Churchill said August and September have been "the least bad months" since January in U-bogged depredations. This, he acknowledged, remains the Allies' greatest problem, "but there is no reason whatsoever why it should not be solved by the prodigious measures of offense and defense and replacement on which Britain, Canada and above all the United States are now engaged."

Losses Outweighed. August and September, he went on, "have seen new building of merchant ships substantially outweigh losses."

"They have seen the greatest tonnage of British bombs dropped on Germany."

"They have covered the most numerous safe arrivals of United States troops in the British Isles."

"They have marked a definite growth of Allied air superiority over Germany, Italy and Japan; in these months, indeed in September, far away in the Pacific the Australians and their American Allies have made a good advance in New Guinea."

Churchill spoke in this Scottish city following a visit to the British home fleet.

"Fear" Called Hitler Motive. Dealing with the latest German executions in Norway and elsewhere and with the Nazi-initiated shacking of war prisoners, the prime minister said:

"Fear is also the motive which inspires Hitler's latest outrages...

British Commando raids... although so far only a forerunner of what is to come, inspire the author of so many crimes and miseries with lively anxiety...

"In his fear and spite Hitler turns upon prisoners of war who are in his camps and in his power."

Still, the prime minister continued, "the savage and bestial acts" of Germany in the west of Europe cannot compare with "the wholesale massacres, not only of soldiers but of civilians, women and children, which have characterized Hitler's invasion of Russia."

He said the Germans shot 54,000 persons the first day after they entered Kiev, and he charged that for every execution which Hitler has ordered in the west, "he has carried out at least 200" in central and eastern Europe.

"I say to show weakness of any kind to such a man is only to encourage further atrocities," Churchill declared. "You may be assured no weakness will be shown."

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

IN WASHINGTON.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal, one of the oldest and ablest daily papers in the south, carried a recent article by George Morris, one of its top-rank writers, which sheds further light on what is going on in Washington. It is a revealing article by Mr. Morris:

"A few days ago the Office of War Information called in its regional directors and gave them a dinner at the swank Carlton hotel. The published account of the menu was too long and varied to print here, but it was two hours long with a different rare old wine with each course. At the conclusion of the feast, speeches were made in which the regional directors were told to go back and tell the people that they must sacrifice in every way, even to denying themselves essential foods."

"The incongruity was appreciated by at least one individual who remarked: 'I go to Washington and feast on the finest food and drink the rarest wine and am instructed to go back to the country and tell the people that they must sacrifice and endure untold hardships.' That is the trouble with Washington. It is living high on the hog."

"After the boys from the hinterlands and provinces had been duly assembled, this, according to newspaper reports not denied, is what happened. They got a pep talk from ineffectual Archibald McLeish, poet and librarian of congress, as well as National Archives counsel and former head of the now fortunately defunct but aptly named OFF, Office of Facts and Figures."

"Following the feast of reason that Archibald no doubt provided, the physical man seems to have

Present War Effort Likened by F. D. R. To Columbus Trip

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

President Roosevelt in a Columbus Day statement yesterday likened the courageous first voyage of the discoverer to the nation's war objective in seeking "liberty for ourselves" and "liberation for others," while other national and state leaders compared Columbus' restlessness to America's determination to win the war.

U. S. Bombers Hit Two Axis Ships Off Crete

Growing Air Might Playing Larger Part in Battle of Egypt.

CAIRO, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Growing Allied air might, fed by a steady flow of equipment labeled U. S. A., was reported today playing an ever-larger part in the battle of Egypt, with destructive new blows at Axis shipping in which two freighters, a schooner and two enemy destroyers were hit in the eastern Mediterranean.

United States heavy bombers scored the hits on two 8,000-ton freighters and left one of them apparently sinking yesterday off Crete, where the Italians have been routing their supply shipping miles out of the way in an effort to keep within protection of Axis land-based planes.

Land-based planes did little good. Two Messerschmitt 110's and a Junkers 88—one-third of the defense force which rose to guard the ships—knocked down the air by the concentrated fire of the big bombers' guns.

After that, the crew of one of the bombers commented afterward, the rest of the Nazis kept their distance.

British bombers, meanwhile, caught two enemy destroyers by night in the eastern Mediterranean. They reported scoring a direct hit on one and near misses with heavy bombs on the other.

A British communiqué said long-range fighters set fire to an east-bound schooner off Sidi Barrani.

Fight for Control. Through this intensification of the air fight for control of the seas which the Axis must keep open if Marshal Rommel is to be kept supplied, the land front some 75 miles from Alexandria remained relatively quiet. Only minor patrol activity was reported.

(Some London observers foresaw a renewal soon of large-scale fighting for Egypt. The Vichy report reported that both the British and the Axis were rushing up reinforcements.)

There was increased activity at Malta, usually a target of Italian aerial attack at times when the Axis is trying to push emergency convoys through to Rommel's ports.

The island stronghold was attacked five times yesterday by swarms of 30 to 70 German and Italian bombers and fighters. Every enemy flight was intercepted, and altogether at least 15 raiders were shot down, the British reported. Only one British fighter was lost.

That was the only Allied loss reported in all the geared-up aerial offensive in the eastern Mediterranean theater of combat.

Columbus Day found America's war factories toiling full tilt to speed out the implements of war, while banks and financial exchanges closed in observance of the day.

The President in his statement said Columbus "found a great expanse where new beginnings could be made," and that in the wake of "this courageous and unprecedented voyage there came to the Americas the seeking people of many countries—people who sought liberty, democracy, religious tolerance, the fuller life."

Bold Experiment. "This was the American experiment," the President said, "bold experiment and successful. Our immigrant ancestors, yours and mine, made it successful."

"But now the free nations we created on two continents, the very liberties we made law, are endangered by destructive forces from without. We are in the midst of mankind's greatest war, a war to determine whether the march of progress shall proceed or be halted by the totality of conquest."

Assistant Secretary of State A. A. Berle Jr., speaking at Columbus Day exercises in the Metropolitan Opera House, in New York City, told an audience of Italian-Americans that they need not be ashamed of their Italian traditions "in spite of the fact that Italy has today been betrayed by her shoddy crew of Fascist rulers."

"I am convinced," said Berle, "that the Italian people, now as always, do not support this terrible treason which has made them the opportunity to settle accounts with the traitors who have sold them back into foreign slavery."

Canadians celebrated the Dominion's Thanksgiving Day and England celebrated Michaelmas, the anniversary of Columbus' arrival in the Americas, and in Spain official buildings flew the national flag in observance of the anniversary.

Argentine Asks Spain For 'Closer Ties'

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Enrique Ruiz Guinazu, foreign minister of neutral Argentina, called upon Spain today to establish closer ties with South America because "in this crucial hour nations which do not wish to perish must link themselves with the nations which follow the same road of parallel interests."

Nicaragua Names School for Roosevelt

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Oct. 12.—(AP)—President Anastasio Somoza announced at a Columbus Day school dedication ceremony today that he would release all political prisoners in Nicaragua, and expressed the hope that they would co-operate with his government as President Roosevelt. The school he dedicated was named the Franklin D. Roosevelt Normal School for Men.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 12.—(AP)—The Augusta war transportation committee is considering a plan to register automobile drivers who will pledge to display emblems on their windshields and pick up pedestrians who wear proper identification tags.

The program would be particularly aimed at giving "lifts" between the hours of 7:30 and 9 o'clock in the morning and 5 and 7 o'clock in the afternoon.

Meanwhile executive committee members reported the formation of swap-ride clubs throughout the city.

City Fire Bell, Relic of 1867, Urged as Scrap

For an Atlanta belle, Augusta Hill, involved the names of many famous Atlantans and fires. The bell tolled the passing of Ben Hill, Alexander Stephens, Henry Grady and other prominent Atlantans. It also sounded the alarm when the Kimball House, Frank E. Block candy factory, Venable building, Norcross building, Markham House, Collins street district and other buildings burned.

On an Easter Sunday when the Jackson building burned and two firemen were killed, the old bell sounded the alarm.

It takes elderly Atlantans back through the years to the days and nights when the bell with a fireman using a hammer sounded alarms heard all over the city.

Each section of the city had a fire alarm box, and the number of strokes on the bell indicated which part was reporting a fire. So when the bell rang, residents throughout the city knew approximately where the blaze was.

Mrs. S. W. McCollie, curator of the Atlanta Historical Society, in a book on Atlanta's past, relates the history of the bell with quotations from the Atlanta Intelligencer.

In her book, Mrs. McCollie wrote that under the heading, "Distinguished Arrival," the Intelligencer of August 1, 1867, reported:

"The alarm bell for Fire Company No. 1 reached the city yesterday afternoon by the Macon train and attracted much attention by its beauty and finish. It was shipped from New York to Savannah by the steam line, General Barnes, and together with the apparatus for mounting it came through without delay or accident. It was manufactured at West Troy, N. Y., at the bell foundry of Messrs. Menessey and appears to be a highly creditable piece of workmanship. Its weight is 1,995 pounds and is molded of composition somewhat resembling that of the 'nickel-penny.' We can think of nothing else to which its beautiful, clear highly polished metal can be compared. In plain but neatly raised letters on the front appears the following inscription: 'Dedicated to the Public Service in Honor of Miss Augusta Hill July, 1867.'"

"A compliment not unworthily bestowed upon one of Atlanta's most accomplished daughters and one which that lady will fully appreciate from the fact that it was result of a popular ballot at a recent fair held in this city for the purpose of raising means to purchase the bell. By common consent therefore Miss Hill becomes the belle of a city which has much to boast of in female worth and loveliness. The new engine house of fire company No. 1 with its capacious and ornamental belfry will prove a most fitting receptacle for the belle of a city which has much to boast of in female worth and loveliness. The new engine house of fire company No. 1 with its capacious and ornamental belfry will prove a most fitting receptacle for the belle of a city which has much to boast of in female worth and loveliness."

Northwest of Stalingrad, where a Soviet relief force has been cutting into the Nazi flank, extended from the Don river to Stalingrad, the communists said 14 German attacks were beaten off in a fight for "a point of tactical importance. Eight hundred Germans were reported killed."

It is this offensive, combined with heavy Nazi casualties suffered in attacking Stalingrad frontally, which may explain the temporary break of German activity in the northwestern outskirts of the besieged city.

The Russians reported renewed fighting on the northwest, or Leningrad front, in which the Red army killed about 600 Germans and destroyed four guns and other equipment in repulsing an enemy assault on "a Soviet stronghold."

LORAIN, Ohio, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Three nine-year-old girls decided to restrict scrap metal hunting to the city streets.

Scrap Collection in West End, Oakland Yields 30,000 Pounds

Collection of only 30,000 pounds of scrap in the West End and Oakland City section of the city yesterday testified to the fact that school children are doing a thorough job in getting out old metal and rubber.

The poundage was below expectations, but officials of the newspapers' scrap drive believed the figures were low because children are fighting hard to win in the $1,000 school contest sponsored by The Constitution and Journal.

Today's pick-up fleet of 42 WPA and Bottling Company Association trucks will be carried out in the Capitol View and Lakewood Park section.

Residents in this area are urged to have their scrap out early so the trucks can pick it up, have it weighed and take it to a scrap dealer for prompt delivery to steel mill furnaces.

The area to be covered today is bounded by Murphy avenue and the Central of Georgia Railroad, Whitehall and Fair street, Capitol avenue, Macon road and Pegg road.

A map printed elsewhere in today's paper shows where collections will be made tomorrow. Be sure and see the map printed the day before pick-ups during the 12-day drive so you will get the scrap out in plenty of time.

The army of school children in Fulton and DeKalb counties continued to pile up scrap in the school yards. The kids are shooting at four prizes of $250 each for the schools in Decatur, Atlanta, DeKalb and Fulton when they gather the most scrap per pupil.

Delegates from the Atlanta Zionist District who will leave this week for New York to attend the national Zionist convention Wednesday through Sunday, include Samuel H. Berman, Al Freedman, Joe Brown, Frank Gottsman, Sol Benamy, Joe Benamy, Bernie Feldman, Morris Hankin, Emil Rothchild, K. Sunshine, Harry L. Siegel and Jerome Greenberg.

Dewey L. Johnson, city superintendent of electrical affairs, is attending the American Federation of Labor convention at Toronto, Can., and will be present at the International Association of Electrical Inspectors at Richmond next week.

Miss Virginia Martin and Miss Elizabeth MacDonald, lieutenants in the WAAAC recruiting office at Fort McPherson, will speak to members of the Atlanta Masonic Club at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Davison's tearoom. Their subject will be "The Woman's Army."

Old-fashioned gospel singing will be held from 2:30 o'clock until 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Second Baptist church in Stone Mountain.

Directors of the Atlanta chapter of the National Association of Court Accountants will meet at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Robert Fulton hotel.

Joseph W. Sanford, warden of the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary, will discuss "Human Rehabilitation" at the luncheon meeting of the Atlanta Civic Club at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Scrapping of Cannon Stirs Up Controversy

MERIDEN, Conn., Oct. 12.—(AP)—A controversy stirred here in the scrap drive because the Spanish-American War veterans donated "Asalador" a cannon captured from Morro Castle, Havana.

Some residents contended the gun, cast in Seville in the 18th century and lavishly decorated with hand engraving, should be saved. They suggested the city's five captured World War cannon be donated instead.

Road Machines Rounded Up by Government

Stating that it will be "only a short time" before WPA representatives will call on every city and county in the region, he warned road commissioners to make full and immediate use of their equipment to get their roads in shape for the duration before it is too late for them to use power-driven units.

For the past six weeks WPA has been conducting a survey to inventory every piece of highway equipment in the nation, he said. They had hoped to complete this by October 1, but the "deadline" has been moved to October 31, he stated. Inventory cards are being mailed all known owners of highway equipment and must be returned by that date.

Armstrong declared the road commissions were getting good prices for their equipment and these are based on the age, number of hours of service, condition of the equipment and its original cost.

He said a few pieces have been released from 50 counties in the southern states, but that the Huntsville commissioners was the most important voluntary action by any group of commissioners to date.

Contractors with war contracts may apply to WPA for equipment. He pointed out that they, as well as the Army and Navy, are eligible for heavy equipment necessary to complete war construction projects.

Diego Suarez Defenders Go Over to De Gaulle

LONDON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Nine hundred fifty men, approximately three-fourths of the French garrison which fought against the British at Diego Suarez in Madagascar, have joined General Charles de Gaulle's Fighting French forces, the general's London headquarters announced today.

Two hundred of the 950 are sailors and the rest infantrymen and artillerymen.

Diego Suarez, naval base at the northern end of the big French island, was taken by the British in May.

Bank Loans in Nation Increase During Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Commercial, industrial and agricultural loans increased $60,000,000 in banks in 101 leading cities during the week ended October 7, the Federal Reserve Board reported today.

New York city reported a $50,000,000 increase and the St. Louis district listed a $13,000,000 increase, but some decreases elsewhere in the country held the over-all hike to $60,000,000.

Carl Butler, Ex-Atlantan, Killed in Baltimore

Carl Butler, 38, former resident of Atlanta, was killed October 3 when struck by a trolley in Baltimore, Md., it was learned here yesterday.

Butler studied music at the Atlanta Conservatory and sang over WGST when the station was owned by The Constitution. He also sang for several years with the choir of the Second Presbyterian church.

High Court Agrees To Review A. M. A. Anti-Trust Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The supreme court agreed today to review the anti-trust law conviction of the American Medical Association and the District of Columbia Medical Society with its question of whether the practice of medicine is a "trade" within the meaning of the Sherman act.

At its first business session of the new term, the court also granted reviews to Enoch L. (Nucky) Johnson, former Atlantic City Republican leader, serving a 10-year prison sentence on income tax charges, and to Thomas J. Pendergast, former Kansas City Democratic boss, and two associates in an alleged insurance fraud.

The medical societies were convicted in May, 1941, of conspiracy to restrain trade in the District of Columbia, in violation of the Sherman act, through activities allegedly aimed at Group Health Association, a co-operative organization designed to procure low-cost medical treatment for its members, mostly government employees.

Among other acts, the societies were alleged to have sought to foster a boycott of physicians connected with insurance cooperative.

The AMA was fined $2,500 and the local society $1,500. Twenty individuals indicted with the organizations were acquitted by the jury.

The societies contended that the practice of medicine was a profession and not a trade such as the Sherman anti-trust law was designed to protect; that even if it be a trade, their acts were lawful under provisions of the law which exempt activities concerning the terms and conditions of employment and that the acquittal of the individuals required the acquittal of the societies as well.

The supreme court will hear arguments and deliver its opinion later in the term.

Rios Postpones Visit to Roosevelt

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 12.—(AP)—President Juan Antonio Rios has postponed his intended visit to President Roosevelt in the second strike of official Chilean displeasure to follow Thursday's speech in Boston by Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles.

Rios, in a message to President Roosevelt last night, said that "the latest official information circulated in the United States about my country's international policy has created an unpleasant atmosphere."

Without naming Argentina and Chile, the only two South American nations still maintaining diplomatic relations with the Axis, Welles said two South American republics "are still permitting their territory to be utilized by the officials and the subversive agents of the Axis as a base for hostile activities against their neighbors."

Argentina also has protested against Welles' statements and a communiqué from the Argentine foreign office said last night the "incident caused disgust in official circles and in the public opinion of Argentina."

West End Reports Partial Blackout

West End had a partial blackout last night—without the air raid sirens.

A street light circuit failed around 7:30 and the street lights in the Beecher and Cascade sections went off. Georgia Power Company officials said. Workmen had the lights going again 45 minutes later.

Slovak Forced Laborers Won't Stay Put in Reich

LONDON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Slovak laborers, of whom some 80,000 have been sent to Germany, have been escaping and returning home in such numbers that individual punishment has been deemed inadvisable and they are being formed into labor battalions at home, the Czech government in London said today.

It quoted a report by the puppet Slovak minister of the interior at Bratislava decreeing forced toil for many hundreds who refused to return to Germany.

Farm and Home Scrap Quota Topped in Illinois

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Returns from 75 of Illinois' 101 counties indicated the state's farms and homes "substantially exceeded" August 1 to October 1 scrap metal quota.

This comment came from Ben Regan, War Production Board executive secretary for Illinois, who says farm and home scrap which normally supplied one-third of the state's yield, produced almost one-half during the period.

YOU CAN'T BE "all out" for success when you wake up feeling "all in". So never let your stomach go sour during the night because you overindulged in food, drink or tobacco. Take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia at bedtime. It does more than merely neutralize excess stomach acidity—it finishes the job by acting as a very gentle laxative. Helps you to wake up "hitting on all six". Read the directions on package and take as directed thereon or as prescribed by your physician.

ONE-TWO ACTION 1. NEUTRALIZES EXCESS STOMACH ACID—does it almost quicker than it takes to tell. Relieves that uneasy feeling of discomfort almost immediately. 2. ACTS AS MILD LAXATIVE. Gentle—does not upset the system and leave you feeling "all wrong out". Take any time—does not act with embarrassing urgency.

All in the Game

By JACK TROY

College Football "Football is the greatest thing that has ever happened for numerous boys I've known," said big Jim PICKERIN, former all-star basketball center of the Arkansas Razorbacks. (Pickerin now lives in Blytheville and is a staunch friend of the WHITWORTH family and of the current Georgia players from Arkansas.) "Maybe you never thought of it this way," Pickerin added, "football has taken many a boy from Mississippi and Arkansas out of the bottomlands and given him a college education, made a solid, substantial citizen out of him. . . . Many a boy would have spent all his life along the levee, sharecropping, bootlegging cotton and getting in a lot of scrapes. Football has been the means to an end. . . . Uncle Sam needs trained men. . . . And football men come out of college with plenty of qualifications. . . . I get mighty tired of hearing of cases where men who haven't worked in a long time are handed good government jobs and then start hammering against sports. . . . I know what college athletics mean to a man. . . . I've been through it. . . . College football is the greatest thing that has ever happened for poor boys who have ability at the game." . . . Jim Pickerin is a married man and soon will enter the service. . . . Meanwhile, he is going to see as many football games as he can. . . . He is hoping to take in Alabama-Georgia at Grant Field. . . . He has to divide his loyalty between his old school, Arkansas, and the home-town boys playing for the Bulldogs. . . . After he enters the service he wants football in college to continue. . . . "This is no time for petty differences or for selfishness," he pointed out; "just think of the boys who couldn't go to college except for football."

Another Discovery Yesterday was Columbus Day. . . . On Saturday, in Crump stadium, Memphis, Tenn., Ole Miss discovered the REAL SINKWICH. . . . Georgia outdid the Orange Bowl performance against Texas Christian, leading the Rebels by 48 points before yielding a touchdown. . . . Honey BRITT, an outstanding guard in the Ole Miss line, was one of several guards who scored in college games Saturday. . . . Any team in the Southeastern Conference is capable of beating any other team," said Coach Wallace BUTTS on the train ride back home. . . . He is not exaggerating. . . . Florida beat Auburn, which had won over Tulane and lost to Georgia Tech. . . . Kentucky has twice lost to tough opponents, Georgia and Vanderbilt, by only a point. . . . Jimmy JONES, who was here before Georgia played Kentucky and warned that the Wildcats would be hard to beat, writes: "KIRWAN is loaded with good backs this year. TUNSTALL and MEEKS, whom I tipped you off to, are plenty good—maybe as good as PROKOP AND CASTLEBERRY—and they haven't got going yet. . . . And he's to unwrap a couple of soph named MOSELEY and WALKER who'll be going good by the middle of the season. . . . This Moseley kid is from Montgomery, Ala., and no relation to Frank and Herky, of Crimson Tide quarterbacking fame, but a good ball player. His name is Bill and he weighs around 175. . . . Right at this time the brunt of Kentucky's offense is being borne by the veteran backs—CUTCHIN (a real triple-threat), KUHN, junior from Louisville, and "Rough Robert" HERBERT. But by the time they hit Atlanta November 7, watch out for those sophs. . . . And don't say I didn't warn ye. . . . Kentucky also has a sophomore center named RHODEMYRE who's as good as WALKER, the starter and captain. . . . The Wildcats were vastly underrated before the season opened. . . . Personally, I'm going to string along with Castleberry when Tech and Kentucky meet in November, but I'm going to take Jones' word about the Wildcats being wild. . . . They are.

Transportation If anyone thought a horse could shift for itself, read about the cancellation of a local polo game Sunday. . . . "Mr. O. A. SHUBERT, chairman, Atlanta Polo Club: Unable to get transportation for horses will keep trying to get. . . . Georgia players used what amounted to a moving van to get to and from Crump stadium. . . . Round trip distance was about three miles. . . . Gay bunch of boys on the return day coach trip. . . . They sang "happy birthday" to Sinkwich a day late and they chanted "speech. . . . speech, speech, speech" until Frankie rose and gave them a fighter's greeting, waving clenched hands above his head. . . . Rudy VALLEE, after visiting Memphis once, said on a radio program: "I went to Johnny Mills' and then I saw Beale street. . . . Johnny Mills runs a shack on Fourth street world-famous for barbecued spare ribs and shoulder. . . . Recently Bing Crosby spent the day there. . . . In his annual report to members of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, President W. G. BRAMHAM itemized the minor leagues' contributions to the war efforts through benefit games. . . . Almost a quarter of a million dollars was realized for the armed forces. . . . This did not include the tremendous number of war bonds sold in ball parks. . . . Now that Minnesota has been removed from the throne room, experts can look below the Mason and Dixon line to the Southeastern Conference for a new national champion. . . . Take the 12 teams of the Southeastern Conference and the best 12 from the country at large and many a follower will betcha the Southeast will triumph in eight out of 12. . . . Injuries to key men have knocked Mississippi State for a loop. . . . Blondy BLACK hasn't been himself all season.

Alex, Dodd May Coach South in Blue-Gray Tilt

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 12.—(P)—Allyn McKeen, Mississippi State football coach, was selected today by the Blue and Gray Association to be one of three coaches for the Southern team in the annual post-season intersectional grid clash.

TECH-IRISH MOVIE.

Action shots of the Tech-Notre Dame contest are now being shown at the Fox theater. The pictures show both Tech's scores and the one for the Irish in the game which Tech won, 13 to 6. The pictures are part of Fox newsreel.

The Northern team will be coached by Carl Snavely, of Cornell; Lynn Waldorf and Bert Inness, both of Northwestern. This trio has coached the Northern team for the past several years. The annual football classic, now in its fifth season, will be played at Cranton Bowl here December 26. Only senior stars of southern and northern college teams are eligible for selection.

Northern teams have won twice and Southern teams have won twice. Tickets for the decisive game go on sale November 2.

'Dubious About '43,' Biff Jones Tells Writers

Athletic Manager Certain Army Will Complete Present Schedule.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(P)—Lieutenant Colonel L. M. (Biff) Jones, graduate manager of athletics at West Point, told New York football writers today that he was certain the academy would complete its sports program for the present school year "but we are dubious as to what we can do starting September, 1943."

Jones, a former coach of the Army eleven before he served in a similar capacity at Louisiana State, Oklahoma and Nebraska, said that the increase of studies at West Point and cutting the course to three years left the cadets little time for sports. "Right now there are 18 different sports on our program with varsity, junior varsity and plebe teams, but what we will have in '43 is only guess work," he concluded.

Jones also told the writers that "officials at both the Naval Academy and at West Point are hopeful that the Army-Navy game will be played this fall."

Recently there have been rumors that the contest, scheduled for Philadelphia's municipal stadium on November 28, would be cancelled, because of transportation difficulties.

A year ago 42 special trains were needed to bring the spectators to Philadelphia and 14 other extra trains were divided equally between the two institutions. "Although the cadets at both schools know that they probably won't get leave to see this year's game, they want it played and I hope that for their sake it will be played," he concluded.

Ticket sales to civilians, he said, were on a par with those of the second week in October a year ago.

2 Skyracker Aces To Miss Saturday Game

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 12.—(P)—Coach Ray Wolf began drilling his Navy boys today for their game Saturday with the Pensacola Flyers, but it appeared he will be minus the services of two backfield stars.

Orban "Spec" Sanders, powerful running back and former University of Texas star, suffered a knee injury in the 26-12 triumph of the Georgia Navy Pre-Flight Training school over Duke last Saturday, and John Simms, former Tulane wingback, suffered a shoulder injury.

Trainer Hank Crisp said both boys would be unable to play this week.

Saturday's game with the Flyers will be played at Pensacola.

Archers Hold Shoot Sunday At N. Fulton

The first Georgia Field Archers' tournament, sponsored by the Georgia Field Archers, will be held at their range at North Fulton Park Sunday.

Hugh C. Thompson, president of the newly organized group of bow and arrow enthusiasts, said yesterday that this would be an open tournament for archers from all over the state. Animal targets will be placed throughout a wooded section of the park to stimulate hunting conditions as near as possible.

The championship plaque and the Tommy Thompson trophy will be at stake and defense stamps will be awarded for precision shooting. Members of the Georgia Field Archers are planning to participate in the annual Chattanooga national forest deer hunt next month.

Clark Back Home For Knoxville Tilt

Clark College, after two hard football games on road, coach, returning Alabama State by a 17-0 score and then dropping a hard fought game to the Lane College Dragons by a 12-0 count, returns to officially open their home season here with Knoxville College at Harpers Field Friday afternoon, 3:30 o'clock.

With several Atlanta youngsters on his team at Clark, Coach Robinson made it known that every local boy would start the game against Knoxville. The student body of Washington High, where Clark is on the Panther team finished their prep careers, is expected to be at the game Friday to welcome the Cardinal and Black back home.

Billy Gibson Now Air Corps Captain

Billy Gibson, alternate captain of the Tech football team in '39, has been made a captain in the Air Corps, Harry I. Davis, Gibson's former boss, proudly reported yesterday. Gibson is only 25 years old.

Gibson attended Tech High before enrolling at Tech. After working for two years, he volunteered two years ago and started out as a buck private. By degree he moved up to second lieutenant, first lieutenant, and now captain. He is an instructor in aviation at Monroe, La.

TULANE'S KEY—To say that Halfback O. J. Key was the key to Tulane "would be a fair pun at best, for the Wave has a host of fleet backs who can mean the difference between victory and defeat. (They upset Rice last week.) However, Key is fast despite his 195 pounds, and Tulane fans say he reminds them of last year's ace, Bob Glass. He will be seen in action Saturday at Athens against the Bulldogs.

Sinkwich Tied With 2 Others For U. S. Lead

Frankie Has Scored 7 Touchdowns in Four Games.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(P)—Three players, including All-American Frankie Sinkwich, of Georgia, share the lead among the nation's football scorers as the season nears its halfway point.

Others of the top-ranking trio are Lee Tevis, of Washington University at St. Louis and Ralph La Pointe, of Vermont. Each has scored 42 points.

The performances of La Pointe outranks those of the other two, however, since he has appeared in only three games while the others have played four each. In addition, the Vermont halfback was on the losing team in two of the three contests, one of which was a 70-13 rout at the hands of Rhode Island State.

Andy Victor of the Citadel and Bob Steuber, of Missouri, and Gene Fekete, Ohio State, are only three points behind the leaders with each having played in three games, while Steuber needed four to amass his total.

Bowling

In the featured Saturday night Sweepstakes C. K. Kimbro took first prize money with a five-game of 628. Not very far behind were Belcher, second place winner with a 611, and N. Davis, whose 607 set brought him third place. The high game of the evening, a 143, was bowled by Wilsenatt. Only two pins behind him was Kimbro's high game of 141.

S. Thompson walked away with everything in the ladies' bowling. Her five games, one of them a 142, totaled 631. V. Tidwell came in second with a 608 net. Her highest game was a 121, which was the second highest game among the ladies. L. Dean won third place with her 583 net.

Barnhill Fears Alabama

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 12.—(P)—Tennessee's Coach John Barnhill today rated Alabama a strong favorite over his Volunteers in their top headline clash Saturday at Birmingham.

"Those elephants have everything we haven't," the youthful Barney said in his sing-song voice. "They've got more seasoned football players and more reserves. I'm afraid 'Bama's got us where she wants us."

Wave Loaded For Bulldogs, Sikes Reports

Georgia Must Surpass All Previous Performances, Scout Warns.

By F. M. WILLIAMS.
ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 12.—Georgia's Bulldogs, feeling a little frisky after trouncing Ole Miss, 48 to 13, were jolted back to earth this afternoon when they heard the report on Tulane's mighty Green Wave from Coach J. V. Sikes, who watched them beat Rice, 18 to 7.

Coach Sikes told the Bulldogs to get ready to play a better game than they have this season if they hope to keep their record clean. "The slightest slip can mean disaster," the scout declared. "Tulane has one of the finest clubs in the country and that's no fooling," Sikes asserted. "They are better than any team we have played this year by far and if we have a chance the boys must play above the standard of the past four games."

Sikes declared Lou Thomas, Tulane tailback, is one of the really great backs in America. He is a 190-pounder, fast and a very good passer and a very good runner. He kicked field goal, which is about all you can ask of any halfback.

Following a two-and-a-half-hour drill, much of which was devoted to pass defense, Coach Wallace Butts had this to say: "We worked a long time and got only a little done. We'll have to do plenty of work the rest of this week."

There was no rough stuff on today's program but a scrimmage is promised for tomorrow.

Meanwhile, in the athletic ticket office, business spurred upward and indications point to a fine crowd for this traditional battle.

Both teams were impressive in victories Saturday and that has helped ticket sales considerably, athletic authorities said.

The game is one of the outstanding Southeastern conference tilts on tap for the week end and is the only one in Georgia involving two major teams.

Babe Zaharias And Al Massey On Mat Lineup

While most of the interest will center around the meeting of the Golden Terror and Ben (Tiny) Morgan, whose combined weight will total 650 pounds, two excellent preliminaries have been arranged for Friday night's card at the city auditorium.

Babe Zaharias, the cruel Greek with the rubber back—bounces around the ring like a rubber ball when his opponents pounce him to the canvas—will take on Al Massey, the stylish young ex-fighter, and the semi-final Massey made a big hit in the tournament last week. This youngster, well built and fast on his feet, won his first two matches and gave Cowboy Luttrell a real run for his money. He looked like a fine prospect.

Chief Chickadee, who is apt to do anything at any time while he is in or out of the ring, will meet Jack Kennedy in the opener. The Chief had a good alibi for his elimination from the tournament last week. Said he: "The paleface still stealing from me, and I, the red man, never gets even break; I think I take my tribe and go back on reservation." And on into the night.

Bob Pastor Bids For Heavy Title

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(P)—Bob Pastor, who made two unsuccessful attempts to knock the heavyweight crown off Joe Louis' head, put in another bid for the title today after Louisville announced that his fighting days are over.

"I'm claiming the title for Pastor," proclaimed James J. Johnston, Bob's manager.

"Boxing lost one of its greatest attractions when Louis quit. In and out of the ring he was a good workman and a courageous American gentleman. But now that he is giving up the title, who is better qualified for the job than Pastor?"

Although Pastor is a few months older than Louis, Johnston doesn't agree that he's too old to be a fighter. "Listen," he said, "Age begins from the shoulders down. You win fights with your head."

Jacksonville Fliers Rout Spence, 33-0

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 12.—(P)—The strong Jacksonville Naval Air Station football team routed the Spence Field Army Air Base, of Moultrie, Ga., 33-0, yesterday.

The Navy scored three minutes after the opening kickoff and was never threatened.

Spence was no match for the team that defeated Florida, 20-7, and Miami University, 14-0, and gave Georgia a battle before losing, 14-0.

"We were outclassed by Georgia," said Coach Harry Mehre, "and our lack of reserves plus poor tackling and rushing of the passer just lost the ball game."

Bobby Yandell, stellar right halfback, out all last week with a dislocated shoulder, was back in pads today.

WILDCAT TACKLE—Bill Shaw, husky Davidson tackle, is one of the bulwarks in the Wildcat line. He is a senior and hits the beam at 205 pounds. He is 5 feet 11 inches tall. Shaw's return to school gave Coach Eugene McEver (All-American at Tennessee) an unexpected boost in the forward wall. Davidson will have two senior tackles in the starting line against Tech here Saturday, with Herb Rainey manning the other post. Rainey has been nursing injuries, but reports from Davidson Monday stated that he will be in the lineup against Tech.

Davidson 'Cats Tough On Defense, Dean Says

Alexander Warns Against Reading Accounts Which Place Jackets Sixth in Nation.

By JOHN MARTIN.
Let nobody tell you that Tech is taking Davidson and Navy as tune-ups for Duke. Although the Jackets have hurled Auburn, Notre Dame and Chattanooga on three Saturdays, they haven't finished the first half of their schedule undefeated.

Coach Bill Alexander emphasized this yesterday as the Jackets went to work for the Wildcats this weekend. It was evident that Alexander feared a letdown as he warned his boys against reading the accounts in the press which place the Jackets near the top in the nation. Both the Williamson System and the Associated Press weekly poll installed them in sixth place.

"I've seen teams look unbeatable on paper," he reminded, "and then wind up on the bottom after a tussle with an inspired underdog."

This was by way of saying that the Wildcats from Davidson are Blue Stocking Calvinists who take their game of football religiously. Norris Dean, who scouted the Cats last week against V. P. I., added that the highly geared Gobblers managed to make only one touchdown in their 16-0 victory. The other scores were safeties and field goals.

The Jackets came out of the Chattanooga game in good shape and in high spirits. Jack Helms, rangy end, missed yesterday's workout, but will return Wednesday. He underwent a minor operation.

The reserves will run Davidson plays at the varsity today and another scrimmage is booked Wednesday.

Alexander appeared to be encouraged over the progress of Eastbrook. The Ohio blond has been passing brilliantly, but an extra layer of fat had handicapped his running.

"He looked better Saturday," Coach Alexander observed, "and he may be ready to do a little running for us."

Davidson Cripples To Return For Tech

DAVIDSON, N. C., Oct. 12.—Davidson's Wildcats, with Georgia Tech ahead of them Saturday, took a Saturday without any recurrence of the injury and should be ready for heavy duty.

Big Red Bethes, nursing an injured shoulder, came through the 16-0 licking which the Cats took Saturday without any recurrence of the injury and should be ready for heavy duty.

Rebels Prepare For Bayou Tiger

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Oct. 12.—(P)—The University of Mississippi Rebels, badly battered by Georgia last week but still nursing no serious injuries, worked through a two-hour scrimmage today getting ready for Saturday's game with Louisiana State in Baton Rouge.

"We were outclassed by Georgia," said Coach Harry Mehre, "and our lack of reserves plus poor tackling and rushing of the passer just lost the ball game."

Bobby Yandell, stellar right halfback, out all last week with a dislocated shoulder, was back in pads today.

Jackets Sixth In Williamson Grid Rankings

Vols 7th, Vandy 9th, 'Cats 11th; System Bats 85.6%.

By PAUL B. WILLIAMSON.
The 1942 football season swept on down Consistency Lane last week with the Williamson system. In 194 games reported were only eight "real" upsets and one "terrible" tie as far as the system was concerned. There may be a lot of talk about it being the weakest upsets, week in many seasons, but that'll be mostly because of the prominence of some of the teams that went down.

On the basis of those 194 games reported, including 46 from previous weeks, the system made a win-or-lose prediction record of 85.6 per cent correct—with only 26 upsets and 4 upsetting ties.

Those eight "real" upsets were genuine: Illinois 20, Minnesota 13; Florida 6, Auburn 0; Corpus Christi 18, Texas Aggies 7; Purdue 7, Northwestern 6; Princeton 10, Navy 0; U. C. L. 30, Oregon State 7; Drake 19, St. Louis U. 9, and Randolph-Macon 6, Richmond U. 0. The "terrible" tie was: Bucknell 7, Temple 7.

The system records Illinois' 20-13 triumph over Minnesota as a real upset against sentiment. It is pointed out, however, that the Williamson ratings and story of last week specifically indicated that the game would be "tighter than Dick's hat band and perhaps a sleeper." The system believes it was alone in such a positive nationally published statement on that match.

Of the 12 "shocker" predictions last week, the system was upset on only one and gained two ties. The ties were North Carolina 0, Fordham 0, and William and Mary 7, Harvard 7. They were moral victories for the system because nearly every game reported picked Fordham and Harvard to win while the system shaded in favor of North Carolina and William and Mary.

In the "shockers" the column was correct on: Santa Clara 7, California 6; Georgia Preflight 26, Duke 12; Hardin-Simmons 7, S. M. U. 6; Virginia Poly 16, Davidson 0; Louisiana Poly 26, Marshall 0; Rollins 46, Washington and Lee 0; Baylor 20, Arkansas 7; Brown 28, Columbia 21, and on the extra special prediction, Missouri 12, Missouri 10. The system was wrong only on Indiana 12, Nebraska 0.

The system's season record to date on a win-or-lose basis is 85.4 per cent correct. That is based on 343 games reported to date, with 70 upsets and 12 upsetting ties. Not counting the ties, the system's record to date is 87 per cent correct—the best we have clicked off in several years.

Jeffers Defies Cotton Senators To 'Pressure' Him

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Breathing defiance at a bloc of cotton state senators, Rubber Director William M. Jeffers declared today that no "pressure group" was going to stop him from substituting rayon for cotton in heavy-duty tires if the Army wanted rayon.

Mrs. Jennings, Atlanta Artist, Succumbs Here

Funeral Services and Burial To Be Held in Illinois.

Mrs. Robert R. Jennings, of 1120 Ponce de Leon avenue, N. E., well known Atlanta artist, died yesterday in a private hospital.

A native of Jacksonville, Ill., Mrs. Jennings began art training at the age of six and by the time she reached 12 she had produced several large canvases.

Mrs. Jennings studied at the Chicago Art Institute under such instructors as Professors Vanderpool, Frederick Freer, Charles Francis Brown, Miss C. R. Wade and Lorado Taft, a nationally known sculptor.

In her art classes were Charles Chambers and Fannie Munsell, well-known illustrators; Gale Porter Hoskins, famous painter of battle scenes; Miss Bell Kintner, sculptor; Wilbur Kurtz, painter; and Virginia Woolley.

Mrs. Jennings began her career as art instructor in various educational institutions in Illinois and Wisconsin. In 1921, she and her husband purchased the Stephenson Studio in Atlanta.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by four sisters, Mrs. E. R. Hembrough, Miss Jennette Scott and Mrs. S. J. Cant, Jacksonville, and Mrs. Arthur Van Winkle, Franklin, Ill., and a brother, Jonas C. Scott, Jacksonville.

Funeral services and burial will be held in Jacksonville.

Navy Announces Civilian Air Plans

Civilian fliers will be enlisted in the United States Naval Reserve as ensigns and be trained as instructors at primary naval aviation bases, it was announced yesterday.

Lieutenant Commander S. M. Nordhouse, senior member of the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board here, said that accepted applicants would be trained to meet existing civilian pilot training requirements either on shore or in flight officer courses, depending upon the choice of the aviator.

High school graduates, 19 through 29 years old, are eligible. In some instances, men who have had "additional professional experience" will be commissioned junior grade lieutenants provided the candidates are not beyond 33d birthdays, Commander Nordhouse said.

Complete information on the plan may be obtained from Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board, 796 West Peachtree street, or the nearest civilian pilot training activity.

OPA Is To Register Georgia Landlords

Regional OPA officials announced yesterday that registration of landlords in 13 defense rental areas in southeastern states will begin Thursday and continue for 30 days.

The areas are: Aberdeen, Miss.; Augusta, Ga.; Bainbridge, Ga.; Elizabeth City, N. C.; Goldsboro, N. C.; Grenada, Miss.; Memphis, Tenn.; Meridian, Miss.; Monroe, N. C.; New Bern, N. C.; Selma, Ala.; Tallahassee, Fla.; and Valparaiso, Fla.

Federal control of rents was instituted in these areas on October 1 with the ceiling set at maximum rents charged on March 1, 1942.

The landlords must file returns showing their legal maximums to permit compliance checks by the area rent directors.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

"I'm not going to put myself in a position where it is said of me that I lack the intelligence and guts to do a job," the former president of the Union Pacific Railroad told the Senate Agriculture Committee.

"Too many haven't done their job because they were afraid of some committee or pressure group. I'm not going to work on that basis."

It was the first time in years that a government official had "talked back" in such strong language to a committee which had called him on the carpet.

At one point Jeffers literally growled at Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, and at another he challenged the senators to try and stop him from taking a step he considered best for the war effort.

At issue was a pending order for the expansion of rayon production to replace cotton in the cords of truck tires. Jeffers said "the view of the chemists, and practical fellows as well, that in synthetic rubber tires, cotton heats more than rayon." If the Army and Navy wanted rayon, he said, they were going to get rayon.

The rayon expansion ought to proceed, he declared, even if it were found later that cotton was better for the purpose.

"We've been gambling too long on this situation—that's what's the matter with this situation," Scott Russell, of Macon, Ga., who said his cotton mills had been manufacturing cotton material for tire cords for a number of years, asserted there was no need for substitution of rayon for cotton.

Not only had cotton held up in road tests, he declared, but tire manufacturers never had manufactured a rubber that would "live as long as the carcass of a tire in which cotton was used."

Russian experts are coming to the United States to help get synthetic rubber production going, Jeffers said.

Jeffers also told the Senate Agriculture Committee that Russian-made synthetic tires were being sent here for examination.

Bowers Favors Tax-Free Lands

ELBERTON, Ga., Oct. 12.—(AP) D. T. Bowers, Elberton monument dealer and independent candidate for Governor in the November 3 election, said today that if elected he would "exempt from taxes all cultivated farm land and improved pasture lands for grazing."

He said he would do this to encourage a "back to the farm" movement.

"Furthermore," he said in a prepared statement, "I strongly advocate a practical and business method of inducements to the manufacturing interests of the nation to locate on Georgia soil."

Of financial problems, he declared "Already the question has been asked, 'How do you propose to handle the finances of the state, taking into consideration the sudden drop in revenue receipts?' To a man of varied business experience this is of course a most deplorable condition yet readily and easily solved when undertaken in a sensible and practical manner."

"In any big or small business, when the source of income is helplessly cut short, the only sane thing left to do is to reduce expenditures, if a solvent and progressive organization is to be maintained."

One Man Killed In Winder Crash

WINDER, Ga., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Police here reported that one man was killed in a crash of two Army planes near here today.

Chief McElroy said witnesses told him the planes apparently "tangled up and couldn't get loose" while flying at a low altitude. Two men bailed out of the planes, he said he was informed, the parachute of the man killed failing to open.

The planes crashed in the pasture of a farmer about two and a half miles from here, he said.

Forlorn Male WAAC Recruiter Happy Now -- Help Shows Up

Whew! That recruiting man, Master Sergeant Cecil Mayes, certainly was tickled to death when that young woman from the WAACs, Third Officer Virginia Martin, walked into the Army recruiting office on the third floor of the post office building yesterday morning.

Up until that time, poor old Sergeant Mayes was all the United States Army had to glad-hand the young women who showed up wanting to get into the WAACs.

Of course, that doesn't sound like such a tough job. The sergeant is slipping along those greased tracks of a man's middle years, but he still looks flushed and tousled and healthy.

Here the 165th, 166th, 167th and 168th battalions of District No. 1 advance across a grassy field near Waco on maneuvers last weekend. Captain Robert H. Perkins was in charge.

W. T. Childress Confers With Neely in Inspection Work.

Wade T. Childress, deputy director general in charge of field operations for the War Production Board, was in Atlanta yesterday on a tour of inspection.

Childress, who acts as supervisor for the regional field offices of WPB, spent most of the day in conference with Frank H. Neely, regional WPB director, and O. M. Jackson, his chief deputy, and in inspecting the various activities of the local WPB offices.

The Washingtonian met a group of Atlanta businessmen at a luncheon given by Neely.

2 Georgians Die In Kansas Crash

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Staff Sergeant James C. Price, of Trenton, Ga., died at the Topeka Air Base hospital today of plane crash injuries which took the lives of eight other bomber crewmen.

Their plane crashed on a farm hillside three miles west of the base yesterday as it was returning from a training mission. A board of investigating Army officers had not completed their inquiry today.

Sergeant Price was the only one of the nine men aboard still alive when Farmer C. E. Patterson, on whose land the crash occurred, reached the scene.

"I listened at the cabin of the plane but couldn't hear anyone," he said. "But someone was calling from down toward the stream. I went down to help him."

Lieutenant H. R. Rubin, of the Topeka base, said the plane was on a routine flight.

He listed the dead as: Lieutenant Rall H. Dienst, 26, Pasadena, Cal.; Lieutenant Charles W. Fischer, 22, Boston; Lieutenant James H. Edwards, 24, Berkeley, Cal.; Lieutenant James L. Holmes, 24, Fort Bragg, Cal.

Staff Sergeant Willie T. Barnes, 34, of Columbus, Ga.; Staff Sergeant Max Barron, 24, Pleasant Hill, La.; Staff Sergeant Arrey M. Lang, 23, Francis, Okla.; Staff Sergeant Merlin Q. Brager, 20, Madison, Wis.

Washington May Erect Sun Yat Sen Statue

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(AP) Plans for the erection in Washington of a statue to Doctor Sun Yat Sen, founder of the Chinese republic, from proceeds of a movie to be based on his life were outlined at press conference today by Senator Thomas, Democrat, Utah.

Attending the conference was Doctor Wei Tao-Ming, Chinese ambassador to the United States, who said the "statue to Doctor Sun Yat Sen will be a symbol of the growing friendship between the United States and China."

Also present was Lester Cowan, Hollywood producer, who is working on the script for the biographical picture of Sun Yat Sen in which Paul Muni will play the part of the Chinese statesman.

22 More Sirens To Be Installed

Heretofore there have been holes in that blanket of sound Civilian Defense officials have been striving to spread over Fulton county in the event of an air raid—but patches are on the way.

Charles J. Currie, chairman of the Civilian Defense Council, said yesterday 22 sirens for use in air raid alerts have been shipped from the factory and will be installed as soon as they arrive.

The sirens are for such communities as Buckhead, Hapeville, Palmetto, West Atlanta and other thickly populated sections outside the corporate limits of Atlanta.

The office hours of Lieutenant Martin will be every Tuesday and Thursday from 8:30 a. m. until 4:30 p. m.

And it may be more frequent than that, the way the WAACs are coming in. The Army wants them.

CAMOUFLAGE—Here is a well-concealed communications center. Look hard enough and you can see a motorcycle under pine limbs in the foreground. The telephone system is hidden in the treetop. Three Civil Air Patrol planes from the Atlanta unit took part in the maneuvers. They contacted troops by a blinker system. The troops returned here Sunday night.

Captured Jap Airmen Plead For Chance To Fight for Allies

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Some Japanese fliers, shot down and captured by American forces in the south Pacific, have pleaded for a chance to become American or Australian citizens so they could join the Allied air force, Brigadier General Edwin Perrin, commanding officer of the Fourth Air Service Area Command, said today.

General Perrin, who returned from Australia in August, said at his first press conference here that few Japanese fliers wear parachutes and those who do bail out are generally attacked by their own forces. He explained families of prisoner fliers are notified they have died.

He mentioned one Japanese about 28 years old, who asked permission to take out naturalization papers so he could keep on flying for "the only thing he said he knew how to do," and said even though the request was denied, the prisoner talked freely about the performance and capacities of Nippon airplanes.

Among the youngest high-ranking officers in the U. S. Army, 37-year-old General Perrin, asked about the relative abilities of Japanese and American fighter planes in the south Pacific, only said that "most of our planes come back, while most of the Jap planes don't return."

He praised the morale of American forces and said they had shown great initiative in adjusting themselves to the war conditions.

Henry McLean, Constitution Railroad Agent, Finds Owner Is Dead at N. Y. Of Lost Pigeon

Mrs. C. E. Houston, secretary of the War Service Center in Fairfax, Ala., thought she had a strange request to make of The Constitution and said as much when she wrote a letter asking for help in identifying a stray pigeon. But that wasn't the half of it.

A reporter on the trail of the pigeon's owner left the letter for F. W. Ivey Jr., of the Gate City Racing Pigeon Club.

Yoy guessed it. The pigeon belonged to Ivey, who promptly wrote Mrs. Houston to send it along.

The bird was lost with 229 others when they were released from Albany and Tifton September 20, Ivey said. Only seven of the 230 lost birds have been found. Seventy other birds got to their lofts here.

The lost ones ran into head winds and, in attempting to fly around them, were forced down before reaching Atlanta.

Ivey's pigeon had won two races and he was really happy about getting it back.

HANDCUFFS SCRAPPED. BOSTON, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The Massachusetts Institute of Technology cooly built 50 tons of iron fences, obsolete scientific apparatus and engineering equipment plus a big turbine engine and a complete elevator to the scrap drive. ## Four Italians, German Seized In FBI Raids

Brings Total Arrests of Aliens to 38 for Near Premises.

In new spot searches of enemy alien premises, the FBI has taken into custody four Italians and one German as a result of raids conducted Saturday night in the vicinity of Elberton. This brings to 38 the total arrests of enemy aliens announced by the FBI.

Special Agent in Charge F. R. Hammack, of the Atlanta FBI field office, said the arrests were made with the co-operation of local law enforcement authorities after a quantity of contraband material including firearms, ammunition, cameras and radio receiving sets with short-wave bands had been seized.

These searches followed closely those conducted in the Atlanta area Friday night when 19 Italians were taken into custody and a large amount of contraband seized.

Saturday's arrests were the third group announced by the FBI this month as a result of searches of enemy alien property in which contraband articles were seized. Eleven arrests were announced last April.

Savannah Pastor Given High Honor

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 12.—(AP) Mayor Thomas Gamble and pastors of the city's Baptist churches joined in a program honoring the Rev. John S. Wilder, D. D., pastor of Calvary Baptist Temple here for 35 years.

Schedules in other churches were shifted yesterday so that a full attendance of Dr. Wilder's friends, from his own and other denominations, was present.

The board of deacons, which arranged last night's program, had a dinner for Dr. Wilder at a local hotel Tuesday night, the date of his anniversary.

During his ministry here, the pastor has preached 4,315 sermons, conducted 4,344 funerals, and performed 3,976 marriage ceremonies. Other statistics during his tenure include 5,740 members received, 2,180 baptisms, 4,302 present members, 75,523 sick visits made, 3,304 meetings led, and $431,660.71 in finances for all purposes.

Mistrial Declared In Moody Case

A mistrial was declared yesterday in the case of the state against F. P. Moody, accused of assault with intent to murder Police Lieutenant E. I. Hilderbrand, but Moody was found guilty of using opprobrious words.

After the jury had been unable to agree on the first charge, Moody pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of assault and battery. The case was tried before Judge Virlyn Moore, who will sentence Moody Friday.

Hilderbrand suffered a broken ankle when attacked in a beer saloon last August 21.

Sharp Slowdown Noted in Speeding

A sharp reduction in traffic cases for September as compared with September a year ago, was announced yesterday by Major John E. Goodwin, Georgia commissioner of public safety, who is head of the State Highway Patrol.

Speeders arrested in September, 1942, totaled 53 against 243 in 1941, Goodwin's figures showed.

Cases against those driving under the influence of liquor totaled 150 this September against 270 last September.

Livestock Produce

The following livestock prices were quoted by the White Provision Company: Hogs: 180 to 240 pounds, $14.75; 150 to 175 pounds, $14.25; 145 down, $13.20 to $11.15; 245 to 300 pounds, $14.50; good roughs, $13.25 to $12.25.

Cattle: No good choice steers being offered but eligible spring $13 to $15; medium to good, $11 to $12.50; common, $9 to $10; heavy steers and heifers yearlings mostly $8 to $9, few up to $10; common kinds, $7 to $8; good, $7.75 to $8.25; common, $7.25 to $7.75; canners and cutters mostly $6 to $7; good heavy bulk, $9 to $9.50; calves $12.50 to $14.50; medium, $9.50 to $12; common, $7 to $8.50.

MOULTRE, MOULTRE. Oct. 12.—Soft hog market 25c lower, heavies 240 pounds and up $12.75 to $13.00; 180 to 240 pounds $12.00 to $12.25; 150 to 180 pounds $12.50 to $12.75; 120 to 150 pounds $12.00 to $12.25; 110 to 130 pounds $10.00 to $10.25; 80 to 110 pounds $10.00 to $10.25.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Hog prices tumbled as much as 50 cents today as receipts expanded sharply following Washington reports that government officials may establish ceilings at levels more than 21 per hundredweight below the 22-year peaks of last week.

It was one of the sharpest price breaks in months. The bulk of barrows and gilts moved 30 to 40 cents lower but some sales showed full 50 cents per hundredweight decline. Top slump-high established last week, $15.75, the head, plus 4,000 billed down to $12.00.

Livestock men said the run of 17,000 head, plus 4,000 billed down to $12.00, was 4,000 more than received last week. They expressed belief that the strength of the Washington reports about ceilings but it was also pointed out that arrivals should be expanding at this time of year. Marketing of a record breaking spring pig crop is at hand and, in fact, has been delayed to some extent, traders said, by the desire to finish out their hogs as heavy as possible.

Other branches of the trade showed more price stability. Receipts were substantially larger than a week ago. The cattle run of 20,000 head was 4,000 larger while the salable sheep run of 9,000 was 6,000 greater.

Atlanta Is Low In Community Fund Pledges

Volunteers To Launch Drive To Raise City's Rating.

Atlanta's opportunity to match her sister cities in supporting agencies of human welfare whose existence depends upon the success of the Community Fund Appeal was presented yesterday to a group of volunteer workers who will carry the appeal to the employees of 660 of the largest firms in the Atlanta area.

These volunteer workers learned Atlanta was at the bottom of a list of eight comparable cities in the number of givers and in the total amount pledged, although most of the cities were smaller in size.

The facts were laid before the volunteers, who will serve in the groups division of the Community Fund Appeal, in the first of a series of training meetings planned by W. A. Parker and E. Ralph Paris, co-chairmen of the division. Parker gave figures showing that only 12.2 per cent of the people in the Atlanta area made pledges to the fund last year. This figure was lower than similar figures for Richmond, which was highest with 25.6 per cent of the population participating, and Providence, Birmingham, Columbus, Ohio; Louisville, Houston, and New Orleans.

In Atlanta, only 59,442 persons made pledges of less than $25 to the fund. In Providence, the number of contributors was 131,234, and the average for all cities was 85,302.

In Atlanta, these smaller givers subscribed a total of $144,292, while in Houston, they gave $298,224. The average for the comparable cities was $236,006.

"Atlanta, with a population 61,000 greater than the average, had 26,000 less pledges under $25," Mr. Parker pointed out. "The total pledged was $91,714 less than the average."

"The job and the opportunity of the groups division is clear. We must raise this standard, if the fund appeal is to be successful."

Alleged Staff Chief Of IRA Arrested

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Police of Northern Ireland announced today that Hugh McAteer, whom they identified as chief of staff of the outlawed Irish Republican Army for all Ireland, had been arrested and was being held for internment under the special powers act. No charges are necessary under this act.

McAteer, 25, was released 12 months ago after serving a six-year term for possessing firearms and explosives.

At the time of his latest arrest police said that three other men, including a father and son, were taken into custody for possession of firearms.

McAteer, son of a respectable middle class family with a brother in the British customs service, was seized near Londonderry in a house where a large quantity of explosives and I. R. A. literature were found, police reported.

MY DAY: Entertaining British Women in Uniform

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Sunday.—Yesterday afternoon I attended the dedication of a new Service Men's Center here in Washington. The building was obtained and remodeled in the short period of 28 days. The donor achieved this miracle of rapid work by co-operation with labor and by using ingenuity in the use of nonessential materials. They have created a delightful atmosphere.

Mr. Walter S. Mack Jr., who entered the last war as a second class seaman, has provided for the men in this war the things he knows from experience are desirable. There is a place where the men may wash up and shave, a place to receive telephone messages and check belongings, a lounge room, desks, stationery, plenty of magazines and a canteen.

The place is run under the auspices of the War Hospitality Committee. Last evening I was told that the rooms were crowded, and I am sure the canteen will have the same success enjoyed by the one in New York City.

A very charming British woman, Chief Controller Knox, and her aide, Chief Commander Gowers, arrived from Canada yesterday to spend two nights with us at the White House. I gave a tea to which the cabinet wives and members of our own women's military services, headed by Mrs. Hobby, of the WAACS, and Miss McAfee, of the WAVES, were invited.

This was the first time I had had an opportunity to see any considerable number of our new ladies in uniform gathered together. I was impressed with their smartness and the earnestness with which they were going about their work.

Last evening afforded us an opportunity to talk to Chief Controller Knox, who told us something of her corps and how they have met each new demand placed upon them by the British armed services. Besides the necessary military training and work which they do, a very wide educational program is carried on with the object of preparing women for their obligations in the after-war period.

If any of our people over here are afraid that participation in military work will make our women less feminine, I wish they could have an opportunity to talk to these British women. They are just as feminine as possible and the rules under which they work show an appreciation of the differences which must always exist between men and women.

Hollywood Starts Search To Fill the Bill For the Petty Girl

By Louella O. Parsons.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 12.—(INS)—"The Petty Girl," the luscious lass of Esquire Magazine, is coming to the screen. RKO's Charles Koerner has signed a contract with Artist George Petty, not only for the name and drawings of his famous darlings but calling for the services of Petty himself in an advisory capacity.

Now here's a jolt for the Hollywood beauties, because Petty does not think any glamor girl in Hollywood typifies his pet. A search for the right Petty girl will be started that will make the Scarlett O'Hara-Gone With the Wind fracas a back number. Arthur Will, talent scout, will take the high road, the low road and follow all curves, including attractive detours, looking for the perfect Petty gal.

Just heard from one of our recent visitors to New York that Myrna Loy, who has slimmed down and lost pounds, is coming back to Hollywood within the next two weeks to make a picture. She will not do "The Thin Man," however. Myrna's bridegroom, John Hertz Jr., has secured an apartment for her, and even though she will do a picture, to be selected after she arrives here, she will make New York her home.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Constance Bennett was fitted for clothes, took one scene and had a conference with the powers-that-be at Warners. She decided the role in "Forty Whacks" was not for her and so she was relieved of the part. Jane Wyman immediately replaced her. I suspect that one reason Connie wanted to leave was so she could hurry to Washington to be with Gilbert Roland, who is stationed near there. At any rate, she left Sunday night in that direction. There was no trouble, I am told, at Warners. She merely was given an extension of her contract, and she will do another picture in place of the murder thriller.

Oscar Baum, the marvelous violinist and coach, has been coaching Ann Sothern for her fiddle playing in "Three Hearts for Julia." Ann had never previously held a violin and, since Baum is an artist, you can imagine how he suffers. The other day Annie got miffed. "If you didn't look so cross maybe I could do better," she said pensively. "Why do I look cross?" yelled Baum. "Why do I look so cross—I'll show you tomorrow." The next morning Baum failed to put in an appearance—but instead sent a record he had secretly made of Annie's squealings and scratches during one of her lessons. Ann listened to the din, horrified, then called Baum and told him: "I get the point!"

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Nadia Petrova, Reginald Gardiner's favorite girl friend, arrives home from New York tomorrow. She and Reggie will wed in a few days.

Love at First Sight Should Be Given A Testing Period

By Dixie George.

Dear Dixie:

Please tell me what to do. About a month ago I met one of the most fascinating men I have ever met in my life and the first date I had with him he asked me to marry him, for he loved me so much. He told me he had never believed in love at first sight until he met me and that he knew that I was his fate. I did not marry him because I think one should know a person for a while anyway before marriage, although somehow I felt that I might love him. When I would not marry him that night he asked me to marry him the next week. I promised I would marry him some time but not too soon.

I received a letter from him within the next two or three days telling me how much he loved me and that he could not get me off his mind, and that since he was not a child any more he thought that he was girl-proof. What did he mean by that? Then later I had a card from him saying that he was on his way to Arizona and that he wished that I was along with him.

Well, here comes trouble. His best friend told my best friend that he married a few nights after he left me. Later I was told by the same person that it was not true and that he had not married. I have heard from him every week since he left and what I want to know is should I write him and ask him if he is married, or should I forget him? I liked him lots and would like to know if he is sincere with me. Let me know at once, for he always tells me he loves me.

DISAPPOINTED.
By all means ask him if he is married; why shouldn't you? I doubt that he is, for I think this mutual friend just wanted to cause some unpleasantness between you and this man. The man seems very ardent in his affections toward you, and although you may like him very much and want to marry him some day, I think that you were very wise in not eloping with him the first time he asked you to marry him. It is certainly better to wait and know him.

Since he writes to you all the time I think it would be a perfectly natural question for you to ask him if he is married. It certainly will do no harm, and it will clear up matters a great deal. It is always a bad idea to believe what others say about someone you are going with, and to form one's own opinion is the best in the long run, so it is up to you to find out for yourself. When you write him let him know that you like him and want to know just what the situation is, for you feel that since he has asked you to marry him you have a right to know. And you have.

HOW TO SAVE ON FUEL

The women of America will be an important factor in the fuel-conservation program, for it is during the day hours, when women are often at home alone, that most of the saving can be made without undue hardship.

In addition to running the heating equipment economically, here are a few practical suggestions made by fuel-conservation specialists for conserving heat:

1. Pull the window shades down, even in the daytime, unless the sun is shining directly on the glass panes, or unless the daylight is needed in the room. Heavy draperies drawn across the windows at night help hold the heat in a room, and old-fashioned portieres, made long enough to drag slightly on the floor, are practical heat-conservation aids for open doorways.

Clothing specialists point out that slacks are warmer than skirts for women to wear around the house, and blouses or shirts of colored cotton or outing flannel are attractive, warm and practical, especially if they are made with long sleeves snapped or buttoned at the cuff for convenience.

Three Midriff Tests for Fitness

By Ida Jean Kain.

There are three midriff tests that double for fitness. Do you feel firm or flabby without your girdle? Do you lean against your backbone or your belt buckle? And, finally, is your waistline expanding or holding its own?

Your midriff muscles should be so firm and hard that it is natural for you to pull up and in with the lower abdominal wall and to lean against your backbone. If that's the case, it follows that you have a neat and tidy waist.

But if you can't pass those tests, you are soft.

Of course, the trouble might be partly due to overeating or to the habit of slumping. But more likely it is the lack of muscle tone and that makes for an inefficiency functioning system and lessened energy. Today none of us can afford to be softies.

Even though you skip all your other exercises, do just a few every day to keep your midriff muscles in tone. Here is a trio that gives a good workout.

1. Lie on back on floor, with knees flexed and feet on floor close to buttocks. Very slowly raise your hips off the floor until your body is in a straight line from chest to knees—don't let small of back cave in. Then, point knees hard. Hold for an instant, then slowly lower hips to floor, press small of back flat against floor, and relax. Repeat the exercise 10 times.

2. Lie on back on floor with feet elevated on low chair seat or on stack of soft pillows. Have knees straight. Raise hips off floor as in first exercise. Hold, and while keeping hips in straight line, flex alternate knees to chest. Flex right, then left knee, before returning hips to floor. Press small of back flat against floor, hold, relax, and repeat the exercise. Six times for this one.

3. Still on back on floor, anchor feet under heavy piece of furniture such as chest of drawers. Stretch arms back on floor overhead. Now, come up to sitting position. Pull up strongly with lower abdominal muscles and lean forward to touch fingertips to ankles, then lower trunk backward. Repeat five times.

There is not much use in exercising for 15 minutes a day, then slumping for 18 hours. These exercises tone your midriff muscles and make it easy for you to maintain a constant stretch between ribs and hips—that amounts to steady exercise and improves posture and figure.

Send today for the leaflet, "Streamline the Midsection." Variety in your exercises makes them more effective.

A Daily Ration of Vitamins May Prevent Cataract

By Dr. William Brady.

In that classical textbook "The Foundations of Nutrition" (Macmillan) the author, May Swartz Rose, Ph. D., (and this reminds me, why don't the women of the country carry on a little much needed agitation to persuade the gentleman who run the military machine that it is high time to commission competent women in medical and dental departments?) presents a picture of a calf aged six months. The poor little creature looks weak, shrunk, below standard size, stiff, deformed in knees and forelegs (bowed) and altogether decrepit. She had been nursed by her mother six months and in addition fed a concentrated ration of corn, bran and linseed oil and a little hay.

The prematurely aged calf was brought to the Wisconsin Agriculture Experiment station and there they began supplementing the calf's feed with a daily ration of about 1-1/2 ounces of cod liver oil, for its vitamin D. Of course cod liver oil like other fish oils contains also vitamin A. But probably the D was the main factor in the present circumspect picture. In the present calf taken six months later. In this picture the calf appears husky, vigorous, well grown, straight of limb and her age.

In the same textbook (third edition, 1938) appears a portrait of a white rat that is evidently about to become a late great-grandmother. The wizened little animal is only eight months old (analogous to about 16 years in human life) yet weighs what the normal young rat should weigh at the age of four weeks. In this instance the premature senility is due to a deficiency of one of the vitamin B complex factors, vitamin B (otherwise known as vitamin G or riboflavin) in the animal's diet.

When the food poor in vitamin G for any length of time, says another (Sherman, Chemistry of Food and Nutrition), digestive disturbances, nervous depression, general weakness, deterioration of tone and an unhealthy condition of the skin are apt to develop, vitality diminished, life shortened, the prime of life curtailed by early onset of senility.

Shortage of another factor in the vitamin B complex, pantothenic acid or calcium pantothenate, is probably responsible for premature graying of the hair.

Cataract develops in the eyes of animals kept on a diet lacking vitamin G, and may clear up if vitamin G in liberal amount is restored to the diet in time. So far as cataract in man is concerned I regret we have no evidence to warrant the belief that it can be either prevented or relieved by vitamin G (B2, riboflavin) or any other vitamin. Nevertheless I believe optimal daily rations of the essential vitamins—more than just enough to prevent deficiency manifestations) will prevent cataract and the other degenerative changes characteristic of premature senility in many cases.

douloureux. (Mrs. B. A. F.) Answer—Trichlorethylene, about 15 drops by inhalation, is a quick-acting anesthetic that seems to have a selective action on the sensory part of the trigeminal nerve involved in tic douloureux or facial neuralgia, but I believe it is obtainable only on physician's prescription. Ask your physician about it.

Brown-Dyson Rites Followed By Christening of Nephew

By SALLY FORTH.

• • • IMMEDIATELY AFTER Lolita Brown and Captain James Dyson spoke their vows Saturday afternoon in the dean's study at St. Philip's cathedral, the bride's young nephew, Bernard Preston Wolff, was christened by Dean Raimundo De Ovies, who had officiated at the wedding.

The bride held the baby during the christening rites, and the groom stood for the absent godfather, "Cree" Stelling, who is on active duty as an officer in the Army Air Force. Ellen Wolff, paternal aunt of little Bernard, is his godmother.

The baby, who is the fourth in line to bear his name, is the son of Captain Bernard Wolff, a member of the Emory Unit stationed at Camp Livingston, Alexandria, La., and the former Douschka Brown. He is the grandson of Captain and Mrs. Joseph Emerson Brown, of Marietta, and Mrs. Bernard Wolff Sr., and the late Dr. Wolff, of Atlanta.

Bernard and Douschka, accompanied by the baby and their elder son, John, returned yesterday to Alexandria, having made a "flying trip" here especially for Saturday's wedding. You see, Lolita and Jimmy had planned to be married at a later date, but when the latter received overseas orders, they decided on Friday to be married the next day.

As a consequence, Bernard and Douschka, in order to reach Atlanta in time for the wedding, had no choice of transportation and had to entrain on a "local." The result was that they arrived here at the grim hour of 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning. There was not a taxi to be had, and the considerate travelers refused to call anyone in the family to come to the station after them.

Necessity is the mother of invention, however, and the couple's ingenuity came to the rescue. They telephoned the garage, which they had formerly patronized, and explained their predicament to the lone attendant on duty. Eager to be of service, the attendant promptly came to their aid. The milkman delivering his wares on Peachtree place must have wagged his head in bewilderment over the scene that greeted him when he reached the Wolff residence. For parked in front was a garage service truck, out of which spilled Douschka, Bernard, children, luggage and all the paraphernalia necessary when traveling with youngsters. But according to the travelers, the garage attendant had no imagination. Otherwise he would have come for them in a more appropriate vehicle—a wrecker.

MISS MILDRED ANN HYER.

Kansas Belle Is Betrothed To John D. Naff, of Atlanta

OLATHE, Kan., Oct. 12.—Wide-spread social interest centers in the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hyer, of this city, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mildred Ann Hyer, to John D. Naff, of Atlanta, Ga. The prominent young couple's marriage will take place on November 15 at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the bride-elect's parents, and will be witnessed only by relatives and close friends.

Miss Hyer is the elder daughter of her parents, who are prominent in the social and civic life of this city. She is the sister of Miss Nanette Hyer, H. Dean and Albert Benade Hyer. Her mother is the former Miss Amelia Benade, of Olathe, and her father is president of C. H. Hyer & Sons, famous makers of exclusive handmade boots.

The bride-elect attended Intermediate Girls' school in Virginia, and the University of Kansas, having majored in art. She is a member of the Delta Gamma sorority. She possesses a charming personality and enjoys widespread popularity. She is well known in Atlanta, having visited the groom-elect's family there last June.

His mother is the former Miss Helen Davis, of Albany, and his father is general attorney for the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company.

The groom-elect graduated from North Fulton High school, where he was a member of the Zenax fraternity. He attended Emory University, where he was a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity. He majored in geology and received his A. B. and M. S. degrees from the University of Alabama. While pursuing graduate work at the University of Kansas he entered the Army Air Corps and was assigned to the Officers' Candidate school at Scott Field, Ill., where he will report for training in January. At present he is engaged in war industry work in Kansas.

Among the out-of-town guests who will attend the young couple's wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Naff and Mrs. Rowsey.

The Chi Phi fraternity of Emory University is planning a Voodoo party to take place October 23 at Fernbank on Clifton road, which will be one of the most unusual parties of the Halloween season.

The winding driveway at Fernbank will be lighted in a way to cast eerie shadows and will reveal a dummy dangling from a tree, which will cause many a shiver up the spine. Also caught in the spotlight will be the two zombies who will serve as doormen. Entering Fernbank the guests will find a roaring fire which will add a cheery note to the otherwise dismal decorations of the old haunted castle which the place will represent.

During the evening an old-fashioned lunch bell will ring calling all guests to the voodoo ceremony which will take place in the barn. Following the secret rites, a voodoo feast will be spread on the floor and served by zombies. Tropical fruits and unusual foods will be served, and the punch will be served from a pumpkin.

Officers of the fraternity are: Rucker Todd, Alpha; Rutherford Poole, Beta; A. V. Gine, Gamma; Bobby Byrd is chairman of entertainment.

JUST NUTS

'Bugs' Baer Says:

We're just about feeding the world, aming the world and fighting the world.

That calls for a bit of rationing here and there, more throwing out the chest and less bending of the elbow.

But in the last war about this stage we were well advanced on meatless Mondays, coalless Tuesdays and hashless Thursdays.

All this chatter about rationing doesn't scare us gall gladder victims. In seven years I haven't tasted butter, cream, beefsteak, an egg or lemon meringue pie.

What I miss most is the lemon meringue pie on the horse shoe curve on the Pennsy. It quivered so nice.

Georgian Helps Man Ship's Gun In Sea Battle

Blackshear Man in Crew; Commander Dies as Hero.

AN EAST COAST PORT, Oct. 12.—(P)—The Navy announced today that 23 survivors from an American merchantman, sunk by a submarine, had been landed here by a British ship which picked them up after they had been adrift in the Atlantic three weeks.

Twenty-two other survivors were reported to have been landed at another port. Seventeen men, including the master and the commanding officer of the steamer's gun crew were listed as dead or missing.

The attack occurred at night from close quarters. Several survivors expressed the opinion that the submarine was charging its batteries when the merchantman, unknowingly, passed close by.

The first shots which hit the vessel started fires and the heavy smoke from the gun obscured the submarine from the gun crew. Meanwhile, the raider came close enough to the "blind" ship to machine-gun her decks.

The gun crew returned the fire. The boats and four rafts were launched, but one of the boats turned over and it was then that the skipper, Carl Stromgren, was drowned.

The men landed here were outspoken in praise of Lieutenant (jg) Patrick J. Walsh, of New York city, who was in command of the gun crew.

"The machine-gun slugs were peppering the bridge like a sieve," said one of his men, "but our lieutenant went to his post—just as he was going to his death. He died, a real commanding officer."

The Navy gun crew included E. J. Dixon, of Blackshear, Ga., who was among the survivors.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12.—(P)—Robert Harold Ickes, 28-year-old foster son of Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, reported his 22-year-old wife has filed a suit for divorce at Reno, Nev.

Ickes is a special clerk for the Duquesne Light Company here. He and his wife married in the spring of 1939 at East Liverpool, Ohio, after a five-year courtship.

Slower Speeds Double Service Of Auto Tires, Study Reveals

How long is the life of a tire? Obviously the answer to that one depends greatly upon the treatment tires receive.

Recently the Society of Automotive Engineers did some experimenting in tire service at various speeds and the result should be helpful in prolonging the life of the tires on your jalopy. According to these tests if one of your tires has 5,000 miles of service left at an average speed of 40 miles an hour it will go 7,000 miles at 30 miles an hour and 10,000 miles at 20 miles an hour.

On the other side of the ledger it will last only 3,500 miles at 50 miles an hour and only 2,500 miles at 60 miles an hour.

Looking at it another way, assuming that you drive your car on a basis of 5,000 miles per year, speed alone can determine whether you have six months or two years of service left in your tires.

22 Axis Planes Destroyed in Malta Fighting

37 Planes Shot Down in Two Days of Intense Activity.

VALLETTA, Malta, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Twelve Axis bombers and 10 fighters were destroyed and many other enemy aircraft were damaged in a fierce renewal of heavy air activity over this British Mediterranean island stronghold today.

The day of air battles followed yesterday in which at least 15 raiders were shot down, making a two-day total of 37 planes destroyed.

Swarms of from 30 to 70 Italian and German bombers and fighters roared to the attack yesterday, with only one British fighter being lost.

(Such violent Axis activity against Malta after a period of relative quiet has in the past meant that the enemy was trying to cover heavy convoy movements in the Mediterranean.)

Ex-City Truck Driver
To Appeal His Discharge

A. L. Wright, former city sanitary truck driver, today will appeal his discharge to the city personnel board.

Wright was relieved of his job by order of H. J. Cates, chief of the sanitary department, when Wright allegedly took some junk he collected in the city-wide scrap drive to his home, 945 Hall place, N. W.

Wright has asked the personnel board to hear his appeal at a meeting slated for 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

PHILIP MORRIS!*

You've heard it said...and it is true:

PHILIP MORRIS' superiority for nose and throat is recognized by eminent medical authorities.

Here's why:

Eminent doctors report their findings—that:

EVERY CASE OF IRRITATION OF THE NOSE AND THROAT—DUE TO SMOKING—CLEARED COMPLETELY OR DEFINITELY IMPROVED... WHEN SMOKERS CHANGED TO PHILIP MORRIS.

Not "laboratory analysis" but clinical work with actual smokers... reported by doctors, in authoritative medical journals, to inform the medical profession.

To you who smoke, it is clear proof that PHILIP MORRIS are far less irritating to the nose and throat.

NOTE—we do not claim for PHILIP MORRIS any curative power. But obviously they're better for you!
